PRICE 2 CENTS

WRIT GRANTED TO TIE UP DIAMONDS HELD FOR LOANS

Application for Injunction to Prevent Sale of $195,071 of Gems Charged Van Raalte With Usury.

EXACTING OF 18 PCT. INTEREST ALLEGED

Harris & Kober Jewels Valued at $119,572 Traced to Pawnshop Formerly Owned by Money Lender.

Simon Van Raalte of 36 Washington terrace, millionaire real estate operator and money lender, today was enjoined by Federal Judge Farris from disposing of diamonds valued at $195,071, belonging to the Harris & Kober Diamond Importing Co., 704 Olive street, which failed last week with liabilities of about $1,250,000. These diamonds were pledged to Van Raalte by Harris & Kober for loans. Judge Farris' order was granted on a motion filed by Morris G. Levinson, counsel for the receiver, in which it was charged that Van Raalte had exacted interest at the rate of 18 per cent a year on the loans, which, the motion set forth, "constituted the exacting of usury under the statutes of the State of Missouri."

A. M. Frumberg, counsel for creditors with claims aggregating $200,000, amplified the motion with a statement to the court that Van Raalte, in making these loans and charging usurious interest, must have known the condition of the firm, "as stated on Gent as collateral."

"In making such deals," said Frumberg, "Van Raalte insisted on diamonds as collateral and must have known that they were obtained from creditors in New York who had received nothing for them."

"He must have known of the firm's insolvency, as Harris and Kober had defaulted in their monthly payments on the purchase price of the Walker Jewelry and Loan Co. (a pawn shop at 213 North Seventh street), which Harris and Kober purchased of him."

"When Van Raalte sold the Walker company to Harris and Kober, he got $100,000 cash as first payment and they received nothing. Van Raalte holding all the capital stock and pledges as security for the payment of the monthly installments."

"Harris and Kober were to have paid $374,000 to Van Raalte for the Walker company, and in addition to the first payment of $100,000, he had $74,000 in monthly installments, all of which money came from the Harris & Kober company and was the money of their creditors."

Extended Time of Notes. "On Dec. 20 last," Frumberg continued, "Van Raalte must have known of the firm's insolvency, because he then signed an agreement, prepared by his own attorney, extending the time of the monthly notes of the Walker company, but even after that he continued to do business with them at the interest rate of 18 per cent a year."

How Van Raalte is alleged to have manipulated the transactions with the bankrupt Harris & Kober company, is set forth in the motion as follows: "When loans were made by Van Raalte to the bankrupt, with only these diamonds as collateral, Simon Van Raalte would, at the time of the making of such loans, make a charge for use of said loan of 8 per cent per annum, deducted from the amount so advanced and loaned to said bankrupt; but that later and upon occasion of the next loan, in addition to the 8 per cent interest for the use of said money on said second loan, would deduct an additional 10 per cent on the amount of the previous loan, thereby exacting from said bankrupt interest for the use of such money so loaned of 18 per cent per annum."

"Your receiver believes that upon an accounting it will be found that the estate of the bankrupt firm will have a very substantial equity in all of the diamonds so pledged as collateral," the motion continues, "and that upon full determination of the rights of the receiver or trustee hereinafter to be elected and the said Simon Van Raalte, all of said diamonds, and all of said money, be returned to the receiver or trustee."

CHIEF FIGURE IN SNEED-BOYCE FEUD SHOTS ANOTHER MAN

John Beal Sneed Wounds Man Charged With Killing His Son-in-Law Last November. PORT WORTH, Tex., March 7.—John Beal Sneed, the chief figure in the Sneed-Boyce feud, which resulted in the killing by Sneed of Capt. Albert Boyce Sr. and his son, who had eloped with Mrs. Sneed, shot and wounded C. B. Berry at Paducah, Tex., at noon today. Berry, who is charged, killed Sneed's son-in-law, Wood Barton in November, 1911, and was wounded twice. Sneed is a ranchman and was reputed at one time to be one of the wealthiest men in the Texas Panhandle.

Sneed on the night of Jan. 13, 1912, shot and killed Capt. Albert Boyce in a Fort Worth hotel. Sneed was acquitted on his plea of self-defense for his life and that Boyce aided his son, Albert, in eloping with Mrs. Sneed. The younger Boyce and Mrs. Sneed eloped in November, 1911, and were found in Winnipeg. Sneed charged Mrs. Sneed to return. Later Sneed shot and killed Albert Boyce Jr. on their first meeting in America and was acquitted.

Nine other relics, owned by the family of Sir George Clerk for centuries, also are to be sold. They include a lock of Prince Charles' hair, a silk handkerchief and a hand painted tortoise shell fan.

The sixth plane turned back to Pablo Beach at St. Augustine. The plane contained Lieut. Guy Kirksey as pilot and Lieut. E. T. Solzer as observer. This is the plane that took a nose dive into the water at Pablo Beach yesterday. The missing plane is expected to reach here tomorrow.

BANK CASHIER, $600,000 SHORT, TRIES TO END LIFE

Springfield (O.) National Closed When Discrepancy Is Found in Liberty Bond Department.

PECULATIONS BEGAN TEN YEARS AGO

Cashier Confesses to Father-in-Law, Saying He Does Not Know How Much He Took.

By the Associated Press. SPRINGFIELD, O., March 7.—The Springfield National Bank was closed last night and a sign on the door said it was in the hands of National Bank Examiners, after A. H. Penfield, 48 years old, the cashier, had attempted suicide by slashing his wrists with a penknife.

Directors of the bank issued a statement saying they had found a shortage of $600,000 in the Liberty bond department of the bank of which Penfield was in charge.

Penfield confessed today to his father-in-law, Dr. D. K. Gotwald, the latter declared that he was guilty of defalcations. "I asked him how much he was in," Dr. Gotwald said, "but he told me he didn't know himself. He simply said he lost in speculation."

Sneed is a ranchman and was reputed at one time to be one of the wealthiest men in the Texas Panhandle. Sneed on the night of Jan. 13, 1912, shot and killed Capt. Albert Boyce in a Fort Worth hotel. Sneed was acquitted on his plea of self-defense for his life and that Boyce aided his son, Albert, in eloping with Mrs. Sneed. The younger Boyce and Mrs. Sneed eloped in November, 1911, and were found in Winnipeg. Sneed charged Mrs. Sneed to return. Later Sneed shot and killed Albert Boyce Jr. on their first meeting in America and was acquitted.

Penfield was known to have been interested in a small way in a number of local ventures, but it was said that he did not have more than $50,000 invested here.

Penfield's attempt at suicide was made in a garage in the rear of his home. As loss of blood weakened him, he fell against the button which operated the horn on his automobile and the noise attracted neighbors, who called a physician.

No charges have been placed against Penfield by either bank officers or the bank examiners.

In the last statement of the bank, Dec. 29, total liabilities were placed at about $2,400,000.

MAN GETS $100,000 FOR SAVING LIVES OF SENATOR'S DAUGHTERS

Act Took Place in 1904 and Rescuer Already Had Been Given $50,000.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., March 7.—E. R. May, an insurance man of San Francisco, yesterday received a check for $100,000 from the United States Senate for saving the lives of Senator Phipps' two daughters, Dorothy and Helen, in 1904.

On June 8, 1904, May was walking down a street in Denver when he saw a team of runaway horses drawing a careening buggy. In the buggy were the Phipps girls. Risking his life, May seized the reins of the horses and rescued the girls.

Senator and Mrs. Phipps were in Europe at the time, but on their return they hunted May up and gave him $50,000 with the assurance that he would hear from them again.

Several times while in San Francisco Senator Phipps has called on May, but May said he had forgotten about the Senator's promise until yesterday, when the postman brought the check for $100,000.

WILHELM'S WIFE AND HER CHILDREN TO GO TO SILESIA

Members of Ex-Empress's Entourage Say Relations Between Him and Hermine Are Strained.

DOORN, Holland, March 7.—The relations between former Emperor Wilhelm and his wife, Princess Hermine, are strained, according to information obtained from a member of the one-time Emperor's entourage. This fact supposedly is the cause for the imminent departure of Hermine and her children for Silesia. The state of the health of the Princess and the raw climate of Holland, however, are being assigned as reasons for her intention to leave Doorn.

President and Mrs. Harding Leaving White House for Trip to Florida

This was the first time since her illness began last October that Mrs. Harding left the White House grounds. Her health is improving rapidly and it is hoped that the Florida trip will restore her strength completely.

MOONSHINERS KILL AND BURY THEIR CAPTORS

Bodies of Two Deputies Found in Mud Quarter of Mile From Still in Louisiana.

By the Associated Press. FRANKLINTON, La., March 7.—The bodies of Wesley Crain and Wiley Pierce, Deputy Sheriffs, slain Saturday by "moonshiners," were found early today, buried in mud, into which they had been pressed and covered with the carcass of a dead cow. They were found about a quarter of a mile from a destroyed "moonshine" still in the swamps about eight miles from here.

The slayers, John Murphy and Gideon Rester, "moonshiners," confessed and led the officers to the burial spot. It was announced by District Judge Prentiss B. Clark. They had previously been placed up with 10 others and rounded in jail by a posse of about 800 men who had beat the woods and swamps for several days.

The body of Pierce was mutilated with an ax, indicating, according to authorities, that it was first planned to dismember the bodies and dispose of them in some other way than burial.

The prisoners told the Sheriff how the deputies had come to their home on Saturday morning, raided their still and placed both of them under arrest. They were searched and then the party started on foot out of the swamp. Coming to a narrow lane the four walked in single file. Murphy, according to Judge Clark, pulled a pistol he had concealed on his person and shot Deputy Pierce, killing him. He then killed Deputy Crain. Both bodies were carried to the spot where they were found. The bodies were brought here this morning and prepared for burial.

The nonflammable helium gas with which the airship will be filled, he said, would not be affected by the atmospheric changes attendant upon such a flight and her speed would serve her to tremendous advantage.

The preliminary tests, the Rear Admiral said, will consist of flights from city to city, across country and around the world. It is believed the ZR-1 will prove capable of circumnavigating the globe in a period of time heretofore deemed utterly unattainable. She will be completed about the first of July.

An airship of similar type, to be known as the ZR-3, is being built for this Government in Germany and the pair will be the first rigid dirigibles of the Navy Department.

NAVY TO TEST ZR-1 FOR FLIGHTS TO THE POLES

Admiral Moffett Believes Dirigible Now Being Built Will Be Capable of Task.

Special to the Post-Dispatch. NEW YORK, March 7.—The United States Navy is contemplating conquest of the North and South Poles by means of the air.

Speaking at the Westinghouse Radio Station atop the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel last night, Admiral William A. Moffett, chief of the navy's Bureau of Aeronautics, made a brief statement to this effect which he later amplified in a talk with a reporter.

In his radio address, the Rear Admiral announced it was proposed to attempt the daring Pole assaults with the ZR-1, the gigantic dirigible being built at Lakehurst, N. J. In his talk with the reporter he said he was confident the ZR-1 would prove capable of such a task; that the proposal to send the dirigible to the Poles after it has passed a number of preliminary tests had been widely discussed by officials of the Navy Department and had met with general approval.

The nonflammable helium gas with which the airship will be filled, he said, would not be affected by the atmospheric changes attendant upon such a flight and her speed would serve her to tremendous advantage.

The preliminary tests, the Rear Admiral said, will consist of flights from city to city, across country and around the world. URGES REVOCATION OF PERMITS OF 44 PRODUCING DAIRIES

Health Commissioner Starkloff Also Recommends Similar Action in Case of 6 Milk Plants.

PASTEURIZERS NOT INSTALLED, HE SAYS

Offending Dairies Have Had Since July to Comply With Provisions of the Ordinance.

A recommendation that the permits of 44 producing dairies and six milk plants be revoked because they have not complied with the new ordinance requiring pasteurization was sent today by Health Commissioner Starkloff to Director of Public Welfare Culliff for submission to the Board of Public Health.

The Health Commissioner's action was upon recommendation of Assistant Health Commissioner Woodruff, after a survey. The offending dairies have had since last July to install pasteurizers. Approximately the same number of dairies are making an effort to comply with the ordinance, Dr. Woodruff reported.

The ordinance requirement is that all milk except certified milk must be pasteurized before sale. The previous ordinance permitted the sale of raw milk by the dairy which produced it. There were about 80 of these small dairies housing cows within the city limits. The milk plants are owned by small dealers, who do not produce.

"FACE ON BARROOM FLOOR" NOT WRITTEN TO AID PROHIBITION

It Was Admonition to Bartenders to Help Down-and-Outers, Says Author, H. A. D'Arcy.

By the Associated Press. NEW YORK, March 7.—"The Face on the Barroom Floor," the pathetic recitation that thrilled the hearts of another generation, was written as an admonition to bartenders to go easy with the ragged stranger and not as a tirade against rum. The author, Hugh Antoine d'Arcy, supplied the information yesterday at a party celebrating his eightieth birthday. When told that the recitation has been used by the prohibition crusaders for years and was popularly believed to have been written as an argument against rum, he said: "I hope it never helped prohibition. If I thought it had, I would jump into the Hudson."

The original title was "The Face Upon the Floor," he said, and the barroom part of it had been inserted without authority. The famous lines began: "Twas a balmy summer evening and a goodly crowd was there, Which well-nigh filled Joe's barroom on the corner of the Square."

Then through the door came a vagabond who heaved for a drink. Refused by the bartender, he was treated by customers to whom the broken artist told his story. Calling for chalk, he drew the face of a beautiful woman upon the floor and fell across it, dead.

D'Arcy said he wrote the recitation after a similar incident in Joe Smith's barroom on Fourth avenue and Fourteenth street, much frequented years ago by members of the theatrical profession. The bartender was unnecessarily rough with the ragged stranger at that time, D'Arcy thought, and "The Face on the Barroom Floor" was the result, an admonition to all bartenders to be lenient with down-and-outers.

The directorate of the Reichsbank announces that the French military authorities on Monday returned to the branch of the bank of Duesseldorf six boxes of copper plates for use in printing bank notes. These plates were seized by the French Feb. 24, when the French also confiscated 12,000,000 marks bound from Berlin for Cologne. The Reichsbank authorities say the copper plates were undamaged and that the French have made their transfer to Cologne possible.

PRESIDENT'S HOUSEBOAT CRUISE IN FLORIDA UNDER WAY

More Golf Is on Day's Schedule—Mrs. Harding Greatly Benefited by Trip.

By the Associated Press. ORMOND BEACH, Fla., March 7.—More leisurely cruising down Florida's East Coast inland waterway and another round of golf were contemplated by President Harding today as he began the second day of his vacation in the Peninsula State.

The course over which the golf game would be played was decided early today, according to advances from the "Pioneer," the houseboat on which the President and Mrs. Harding are taking the cruise. The boat left here last year, day after the President and had a game over the Ormond Beach course. New Smyrna, 20 miles south of here, seemed to be the most likely place.

The relaxation, not to mention the recreation he has been able to obtain since leaving Washington, already has helped the President, members of the vacation party say. The trip also has been of immediate benefit to Mrs. Harding, who is gradually regaining her former strength.

100,000 GOVERNMENT EMPLOYEES REMOVED IN LAST TWO YEARS

Data Compiled at Harding's Direction Made Public at White House.

WASHINGTON, March 7.—During the two years of the Harding administration, ending March 4, almost 100,000 employees have been removed from Government service, according to a tabulation made at the direction of President Harding and given out today at the White House.

Detailed figures furnished by all departments and independent establishments of the Government showed that reductions aggregated 19,187, but these were offset somewhat by increases in certain of the departments numbering 20,395, leaving a total net reduction of 98,792.

CHESTERTON ON PROHIBITION

British Writer Calls It "Curious Colonial Experiment."

LONDON, March 7.—G. K. Chesterton, debating prohibition Sunday night before the Institute Franciscan, described it as "that curious colonial experiment on the other side." He added: "We are asked reverently to follow America's example. But they burn negroes alive in that country, and although I do not want to be Pharisaical about that, I do refuse to admit a society in which a vast crowd of people can meet together while a man in evening dress sets fire to a negro and roasts him alive has any right to set itself up as an exemplar of morality to the world. Prohibition means sacrificing the mass of normal people to a lot of abnormal people."

ESSEN CENTER OF OUTLAW OUTRAGES

Marauders Enter Houses and Shops and Residents Are Robbed; No Police, and Firemen Use Lead-Filled Hose and Wooden Revolvers.

By the Associated Press. LONDON, March 7.—The French have occupied Muelheim, the seat of the Stinnes interests, according to a Berlin dispatch to the Times.

BERLIN, March 7.—It is reported from Muenster that troop movements in the area south of Elberfeld continue. Wittenfuert was occupied yesterday by French cavalry, which then proceeded with other detachments in the direction of Gummersbach, the movement apparently having as its purpose the cutting off of the Cologne bridgehead to the east.

The directorate of the Reichsbank announces that the French military authorities on Monday returned to the branch of the bank of Duesseldorf six boxes of copper plates for use in printing bank notes. These plates were seized by the French Feb. 24, when the French also confiscated 12,000,000 marks bound from Berlin for Cologne. Communists Assist in Fight on Essen

By the Associated Press. ESSEN, March 7.—In consequence of the absence of a police force, new outrages are being reported. Shops and houses are entered by marauders and residents of the city are held up and robbed. The fire brigade has taken over the duties of the police. The French will not permit them to carry arms, so they have equipped themselves with pieces of rubber tubing loaded with lead and with wooden revolvers.

The firemen are active in their new duties and find eager assistants in the Communists, who seem anxious to show that they are not connected with the disorders.

Railway men meeting at Elberfeld yesterday adopted the principle of a fortnight's strike in protest against the Franco-Belgian administration of the railways. The strikers will be paid for the first week by the Reich and for the second week out of the Ruhr relief funds.

French Senate Acts to Give Army Fresh Supply of Troops.

PARIS, March 7.—The Senate yesterday rejected an amendment to the military bill, reducing obligatory military service to one year and adopted the Government project of a year and a half service. The vote was 193 to 108. The Senate took this action after an eloquent plea by Senator DeJouvenal and after Premier Poincare had made it a question of confidence on the Government's project for 18 months' service.

The decision of the Minister of War to keep the class of 1921 under the colors until the end of May, together with the project for six months' volunteers, is interpreted in some quarters as another indication of the Government's determination to wear out the Germans, and also a sign that the Government is convinced that the Germans will make every effort to continue their resistance.

Suggestions of foreign mediation were discounted several days ago by the statement that, under no condition, would mediation proposals be entertained, except direct official proposals from Germany concerning her willingness to pay reparations.

EVIL ONE TRYING TO DISCOURAGE HIM, PASTOR SAYS

The Rev. Mr. Cross to Carry On in Spite of Ousting From One Church and Fight With Deacons in Another.

EVIL GREAT CLERICS WHO "WENT TO MAT"

Still, East Side Minister Doesn't Think Three Against One in Closed Room Was Fair Handicap.

An enforced resignation under circumstances from his pastorate at Medora, Ill., last October, and a fight with two deacons and the Sunday school superintendent of his present charge, the Franklin Park Baptist Church, Sixth street and Bond avenue, East St. Louis, last Sunday, have not in any way discouraged the Rev. Grover Cleveland Cross.

These intimations of unfrin-dlyness, he told a Post-Dispatch reporter yesterday, are but physical manifestations of the evil One. Consequently it is not for him to weaken under fire. There have been other challenges through all the ages, he said, who have taken hard knocks for righteousness. Quoting from the Bible, he mentioned St. Stephen, the Martyr; John the Baptist and St.
Peter.

"Even in this day powerful forces for good occasionally are beat up," said Rev. Mr. Cross. "The great D. L. Moody used to get into fights at his evangelistic meetings. One day when I was acting as his secretary he soundly thrashed a man who was converted later. Bill Sunday has left the pulpit to go to the mat with men possessed of the evil spirit. Both these men have been beaten up at times."

Sermons Produce Varying Effects.
Religion affects men in different ways, the pastor went on to explain.
His most powerful sermons have sent some men down the right trail while they started others to cursing, he stated. He preaches the "straight Bible" and some like it. Preached that way and some do not.
"But I don't think I have any right to beat up on a preacher just because they don't like his doctrine," he complained. "Anyways, they shouldn't start a fight just before preaching time. Like they did last Sunday."

He had reference to the latest episode for which Luther Shelby, 1013
Pigott avenue, Sunday school teacher and deacon, Ten Perry, 765 Diverse avenue, Sunday school superintendent, and Henry Barber, 106 Market avenue, deacon, all of East St. Louis, are under bond on peace disturbance charges.
Last Sunday morning just before service was to begin these three entered the pastor's study to discuss with him the retirement of Shelby as Sunday school teacher. Shelby is a hard worker. Barber is a positive man and Perry a car man.
"I knew they were going to try to beat me up," the Rev. Mr. Cross said yesterday. "I wanted them to leave the door open. There wasn't any use trying to fight the three of them. Besides I was due to preach my regular sermon in a few minutes. It was no time for a fight, was it?"

Describes the Scuffle.
The pastor then described how he had scuffled with Shelby and how Shelby had got him down and how he had pulled out much of Shelby's hair. The three laymen denied to the police that they had intended violence, saying they wanted to get their pastor to pray with them over trouble in the church. But the teacher went out warring.

"Talk will be a lesson to them,"
said the pastor. "Church difficulties should not be settled that way.
At least not just before church and with the doors shut and three laid out."

It will be recalled that the Rev.
Mr. Cross was the center of a document storm at Medora which was being headed by him because pastor of the Mount Pleasant Baptist Church there.

"That was not like this trouble at all," he said. "That was a conflict between Northern Baptists and Southern Baptists who tried to have the same church. It was a small church and I knew from the start that we were in for trouble."

Both Sides Against Him.
The press treated me unfairly. I was not escorted from Medora by a Deputy Sheriff. Nobody punched me. The reason I had to leave was that the Northern Baptists voted to remove me because I was a graduate of the Moody Bible Institute in Chicago. They thought I was a Northwestern. When they found out they mistake, they were against me, and meanwhile the Southern Baptists were against me because they thought I was a Northern.

However, the Rev. Mr. Cross thinks that if his two deacons and Sunday school superintendent can be kept away from his edifice all the troubles of his church will be over.

They were trouble makers and they hadn't put anything in the column since I returned as pastor," he summarized. "The rest of the trouble is for me."

SAYS OLIVE AND GRAND NOISES DROWN RADIO

Owner of Loud Speaker, Replying to Petition, Mentions Chop Suey Parlor's Piano.

If the City College of Law and Finance must have peace and quiet for the instruction of its students, Grand boulevard and Olive streets,
which is the location of the school,
is no place to expect to find it.
This is the burden of the answer of Otto J. Wenzel, an electrical dealer who has been operating a wireless loud speaker on the first floor of the building in which the school has quarters, and against which the school recently applied to Circuit Court for an injunction. Wenzel's answer was filed today. The case will have a hearing next Wednesday.

Wenzel denies that the operation of the loud speaker makes it impossible for students to follow lectures.
He declares that the loud speaker is self frequently is drowned out by the noises incident to one of the busiest corners of the city's life. He cites the coming and going of taxicabs from their stations, the clamor of an electric piano in a chop suey restaurant across the street, and the nightly performances of students in a jazz school directly beneath the law school quarters.
He declares that the efforts of this student jazz music cannot be conquered in quality with that which emanates from the loud speaker.
The wireless music originates with him, he declares, and is "tuneful, melodious, pleasing and agreeable"
the productions of the St. Louis Symphony Orchestra and of vocal and instrumental artists of established ability. Therefore the loud speaker cannot be called a nuisance, he declares.

REV. T. J. IRWIN ACQUITTED

Oklahoma Pastor Found Not Guilty of Arson Charge.

LAWTON, Ok., March 7.—The Rev. Thomas J. Irwin, former pastor of a local church, was acquitted of a charge of arson in an instructed verdict rendered by a jury in District Court last yesterday. The charge grew out of a fire at the church on the night of April 22, 1922.

The prosecution introduced what purported to have been a conversation between Irwin and H. C. Lewis, a member of his church, recorded by a secret telephone device, in which the minister made alleged incriminating reference to the fire at the church.

The alleged conversation was held in a witness room at the courthouse during an inquiry into an alleged abduction of the former pastor. Testimony was also introduced seeking to show that Irwin had been at the church a few minutes before the fire was discovered and extinguished.

monds will be adjudged to be the property of this receiver, or the trustee.

The receiver's motion said further that he would show to the Court that Van Raalte has now in his possession diamonds belonging to Harris & Kober valued at $195,072.62,
and that Van Raalte has no right, title or interest in them; that the gems are the property of the bankrupt.

Diamonds valued at $119,572.62, belonging to the Harris & Kober Co., yesterday were discovered by J. G.
W. Schoenfelder, the receiver, in a pawshop formerly owned by Van Raalte at 213 North Seventh street.
The Walker Jewelry and Loan Co.
now is owned by Louis K. Harris and Samuel Kober, president and vice president respectively of the Harris & Kober Co., as individuals, they having purchased it from Van Raalte in October, 1921.

The pawn tickets show that the diamonds were pledged when Van Raalte owned the pawnshop; that he had loaned $50,000 on them, and was charging 18 per cent a year interest on $50,000 of the loan, and 15 per cent a year on the remaining $12,000.

Attorney Levinson, counsel for the receiver, said that steps will be taken to the bankruptcy hearings now under way to recover the firm's equity in these gems for the benefit of creditors.

Hundreds of Thousands Borrowed.
Records of the firm now in the hands of the receiver show that Harris & Kober borrowed hundreds of thousands of dollars from Van Raalte in the last five years on which interest of 76 per cent per annum, multiplied by 3, was charged.
Harris testified Monday that the firm paid Van Raalte interest at the rate of 18 per cent a year on loans, and that Van Raalte exacted diamonds to secure the firm's indebtedness to customers' notes on which most of the loans were made. Some of the loans were made on diamonds alone, and Van Raalte is now said to have about $200,000 of the firm's diamonds and an equal amount of its customers' paper. He also holds bank stock and other securities belonging to Harris and Kober as individuals, pledged as collateral for loans.

Transactions With Van Raalte.
Almost every phase of the investigation now under way by the receiver and attorneys for the creditors to trace the assets of the firm leads to some transaction with Van Raalte, and conferences are being held daily to discover some way in which the hypothesized assets can be reclaimed.

The gems traced to the Walker Jewelry & Loan Co. yesterday were loaned prior to April 12, 1921. Harris & Kober, as individuals, purchased the Walker Jewelry & Loan
Co. of Van Raalte in October, 1921.
Between July 12, 1920, and April 12, 1921, Harris & Kober pledged five lots of the firm's diamonds at the pawnshop, for the above total of $119,572.62, as follows:

Records of Loans.
May 22, 1920, borrowed $12,000
on diamonds valued at $20,000 at interest of 14 per cent a month.
July 13, 1920, borrowed $20,000 on diamonds valued at $30,234.66 at interest of 14 per cent a month.
Sept. 30, 1920, borrowed $14,000
on diamonds valued at $23,513.60 at
interest of 14 per cent a month.
Oct. 6, 1920, borrowed $8,000 on diamonds valued at $16,247.53 at interest of 14 per cent a month.
April 12, 1921, borrowed $12,000
on diamonds valued at $23,716.66 at
interest of 14 per cent a month.

Interest on the foregoing loans has been paid regularly.
The receiver has also found that the diamond importing company commodation paper and customers' notes were given in payment. Attorneys for the creditors are attempting to trace this merchandise on reclamation orders issued by Federal Judge Farris. Thus far the only diamonds found in stock inventory not more than $20,000.

Van Raalte's Statement of Deeds With Harris and Kober.

Van Raalte, in a statement to the Post-Dispatch today, takes an entirely different view of the situation.
Supplementing a written statement
he said that Harris, on the witness stand Monday before Referee in Bankruptcy Coles, "expressed his sincerity in courteous language," and knew when testifying about 18 per cent that he was referring to the discounting of customers' paper and not the charging of an interest rate.
The text of his statement follows:

"In the first place, there seems to be a misconception as to the amount involved. Approximately one-quarter of a million dollars is owing to me from the Walker Jewelry and Loan Co., which indebtedness was due me for several years, even before Mr. Harris and Mr. Weber, at individuals, purchased the shares of stock of the Walker Jewelry and Loan Co. from me. For this indebtedness I hold security from the Walker Jewelry and Loan Co.

"Besides this, there were two classes of transaction with the Harris-Kober Diamond Importing Co.
One class was straight loans to them at the usual rate of interest which all banks charge, namely 8 per cent.
This class amounts to $50,000, for which I hold collateral from the bankrupt company.

The other class consists of commodity notes, which I discounted at the usual banking manner. It was represented to me that the Harris-Kober Diamond Importing Co. sold merchandise and received notes from customers, leasing on the arm of Glenn Stewart, who, in the absence of her father, gave her in marriage, descended the stairs. Her attendants were Mrs. Glenn Stewart, matron of honor and her sister, the Countess de Marquis, who came especially for the event.

Julian McCarty Little was the best man. He has been long a friend of Vanderbilt. It was not until Monday night, Mrs. Stewart said, that a "horror" of publicity caused the change in place for the ceremony.

Most of the guests, she said, were
not informed until yesterday morning over the telephone. She did not know of the revised schedule until she returned from the theater after midnight. She was then informed by Little over the telephone. She said
no invitations had been sent out.
Finally, Mrs. Morgan said today that she had small parts in moving pictures made abroad and that she had made her debut there in
"The Young Diana" under the name
of Gloria Rochelle.

WEAPONS SEIZED BY POLICE IN RAIDS HAMMERED INTO JUNK

200 Pistols, Several Sawed-Off Shotguns and Brass "Knucks" in Collection.

A collection of deadly weapons, including 200 pistols, several sawed-off shotguns, daggers and brass
"knucks," was hammered into junk at Police Headquarters today. Chief of Police O'Brien and Chief of Investigation Hoagland participated.
The weapons were confiscated in raids on "gun joints" where gangsters gunmen and other criminals held forth. Usually the weapons were found in out of the way places where they had been thrown by the owners at the time of the raids.

The semiannual rummage sale of unclaimed property in the hands of the police, the proceeds of which goes to the Police Relief Association, will be held in the next few days, and the junking of the weapons was ordered to make sure that they will not fall into the hands of second-hand dealers attending the sale.

LARGE FLORAL DISPLAY AT VANDERBILT WEDDING

Bridegroom's Daughter Not at Ceremony—His Mother First to Kiss the Bride.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.
NEW YORK, March 7.—With a last-moment change in plans, Miss Gloria Morgan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hays Morgan, was married to Reginald C. Vanderbilt at 12:30 yesterday, at the home of Mr.
and Mrs. E. Van der Horst Koch, 6
East Ninety-second street. The Rev.
John Haynes Holmes, pastor of the Non-Sectarian Community Church, officiated. The wedding was to have been at the home of Mr. and Mrs.
Glenn Stewart, 270 Park avenue. The last-moment change was said to have been made to avoid publicity.

Mrs. Vanderbilt, mother of Reginald Vanderbilt, came here from Washington to be the first to kiss the bride after the ceremony. She sat at the bride's table at the luncheon following. It is no secret that Mrs. Vanderbilt for some time opposed an early marriage of her son to the daughter of the American Consul-General in Brussels, who is barely 18.

Bridegroom's Daughter Absent.

The one conspicuous absentee from the marriage yesterday was Miss Cathleen Vanderbilt, Vanderbilt's daughter, who had been expected to be a bridesmaid. She has been in Palm Beach with her mother, Mrs. Sydney J. Colford Jr., but was expected for the event, although some doubt was expressed as to whether she would act as attendant.
A gold vanity case was her gift to the bride.

Mr. and Mrs. Vanderbilt barely caught the 2 o'clock train for Newport. They left in a private car. Portions of 15 pounds of rice, a pound to each guest, still clung to their long white satin ribbon, part of the altar decorations, was still wound about Vanderbilt as she stepped into her automobile and dashed for the train. He smiled in a way which made him look much younger than his age, 42. It is said Miss Morgan is still 17, although in the application for marriage license, she was only yesterday, she gave her age as 18.

The bride, who wrote her name
"Mrs. R. C. Vanderbilt" for the first time yesterday, immediately after the ceremony, said that she was initials in signing her name in a wedding guest book.

She looked very smart as she and Vanderbilt came out of the Koch train. She wore a white dress with brown fur trimmings, over a gray silk gown with tight bodice and full overskirt. She carried orchids and lilies of the valley in a trailing bou-quet, the ribbons of which reached to her knees.

Altar Made of Lilies.
She and Vanderbilt were married on a white satin prie dieu before an altar of lilies which reached to the ceiling of the drawing room on the second floor. Everywhere were Eastern lilies, white roses and red roses.
Those climbed over the mantle above the fireplace and ran along the railing of the stairs. It was only the day before that the new scene had been chosen for the wedding, and Gloria were busy almost until the arrival of the guests yesterday putting on finishing touches.

An orchestra played the wedding march from "Lohengrin" as, Miss Morgan, leaning on the arm of Glenn Stewart, who, in the absence of her father, gave her in marriage, descended the stairs. Her attendants
were Mrs. Glenn Stewart, matron of honor and her sister, the Countess
de Marquis, who came especially for
the event.

Most of the guests, she said, were
not informed until yesterday morning over the telephone. She did not know of the revised schedule until
she returned from the theater after midnight. She was then informed by Little over the telephone. She said
no invitations had been sent out.
Finally, Mrs. Morgan said today
that she had small parts in moving pictures made abroad and that she had made her debut there in
of Gloria Rochelle.

BRANCH BANK RULING APPEALED TO THE U. S. SUPREME COURT

First National Takes Action After Adverse Decision by State Supreme Court.

The First National Bank has taken an appeal to the Supreme Court of the United States from a decision handed down by the Supreme Court of Missouri, on March 6, last Saturday, in which it was held that national banks are not entitled to operate branches in Missouri.

This opinion was in the case brought by Attorney-General Bennett to stop operation of a branch
by the First National in the old Night and Day Bank location, 815
Olive street. Officers of the First National, announcing the appeal, stated that the branch would remain open, for business under an arrest of judgment pending final settlement of the question by the high court.

VERDICT OF SUICIDE IN DEATH OF DENTIST

Coroner Finds F. G. Knott Ended His Life With Cyanide of Potassium.

A Coroner's verdict of suicide by cyanide of potassium poisoning was returned today in the death of Dr.
Frederick W. Knott, 49 years old,
a dentist, residing at 1243 Amherst place, who was found unconscious on a bed about noon yesterday, when his wife returned home from a short trip to a store.

He had been reading on the bed
when she left. Dr. A. C. Leggat, who has offices in the Lister Building, Taylor and Olive streets, assisted Dr. Knott, who was called and pronounced him dead. An autopsy later disclosed traces of the poison.
Physicians occupying the same suite with Dr. Knott in the Lister Building said they were surprised that he had been at his office only occasionally within the last three weeks and said that he appeared ill and depressed at these times. Members of the family said he had been ill for some time.

CLAIMS CLOTHING HE TOOK WAS SURETY FOR HIS SALARY

Haberdashery Tailor Arrested and Goodly Valet at $585 Found

Two pairs of black silk socks dangling from the pocket of Jacob Gordan, 412 Brighton place, East St.
Louis, as he left the haberdashery of Kling & Erock, 92 St. Clair avenue, where he was employed as a tailor,
led to his arrest last night by East St. Louis police, who found men's apparel valued at $585 and rankings from silk shirts to shoe strings, in his rooms.

Samuel Erosok, one of the haberdashery proprietors, who had just finished an inventory of the company, said he discovered a shortage of about $1100 in merchandise and became suspicious of Gordan when he saw the socks. Erosok said all the goods found in Gordan's rooms were taken from his store.

Gordan today said he was a tailor at the haberdashery and was paid $18 a week. He was supposed to get all he made from pressing clothes and his salary besides. He contended, but the pressing collections were taken by the proprietors.
When he protested, he said, they would tell him to take something from the stock. This was part of the goods found in his rooms, he said, the rest of it, with the exception of some that he bought, having been taken by him as surety for a proper salary. A bank book of Gordan's showing a balance of $2400 was found by the police.

FORMER CAPTAIN FOUND NOT GUILTY OF EMBEZZLEMENT

Fort Snelling Courtmartial Accepts Plea of Walter Connor of Suffering From Shell Shock.

By the Associated Press.
FORT SNELLING, Minn., March 7.—Walter Connor, former Captain and exchange officer at the army post here, charged with embezzling $100 of the post funds, was found not guilty by a courtmartial Monday.

Circumstantial evidence was the basis of the charges against Connor, who disappeared from the post simultaneously with the discovery of the shortage. He surrendered in Texas after an absence of several months. Connor's plea was that he suffered from shell shock.

Although Connor is completely exonerated by the courtmartial verdict on the embezzlement charge, he will be dropped from army rolls for being absent without leave, it was said.

According to Connor's testimony at the trial, he was in a dazed condition the day the shortage was discovered and did not know what he was doing when he left the fort. His first intimation that he was wanted on a more serious charge than a W. O. L. came when he surrendered at Longview, Tex., he said.

The $100 which Connor was accused of embezzling is still missing, post officers said. The books were balanced Sept. 30 last and apparently were correct, according to Lieut. H. A. Doherty. A representative from the Inspector-General's office is expected here soon to conduct an investigation.

ALIMONY NOT TAXABLE INCOME

Payer of It Can't Deduct It on His Return, However.

Alimony is not taxable as income by the Federal Government, but money received in judgment for breach of promise is taxable as income, according to a ruling of the Internal Revenue Department, just announced. While the provision relating to alimony probably will bring joy to the hearts of all divorcees, the payers of alimony will have nothing to rejoice over, as the department in the same ruling holds that money paid as alimony is not deductible from the income of the payer.

Although money received for breach of promise, either by judgment or settlement, is taxable, money received as damages for defamation of personal character is not taxable.

Second Plea for Daylight Saving.

A request that the Aldermen pass a bill providing for daylight saving in St. Louis was sent to President Alton last night by the First National Bank and St. Louis Club. This is the second organization to declare for the plan this year, the Missouri Athletic Association having started the movement with a similar request a week ago.

13,500,000
Tons of Raw Materials

More than one third of all raw materials required to manufacture portland cement vanishes in the manufacturing process. This is exclusive of the vast fuel consumption, which averages about 200 pounds of coal, or its equivalent, to the barrel.

Last year cement plants in the United States produced 113,870,000 barrels of cement. This output required the quarrying or mining and transportation, drying, grinding and burning of 35,000,000 tons of raw materials. Of this huge total, 13,500,000 tons which started on their journey through the mills never reached the cement sack.

Many conservation methods and devices are in use in the industry. Yet the inevitable losses, due to transformation of materials under the intense heat in the kilns, total well over a third of all raw materials that go into the plant.

A cement plant covers acres of ground. It includes large buildings full of crushing, grinding, elevating and conveying machinery and huge storage bins for raw materials and finished cement.

But it is in the burning zone of the great rotary kilns—a space 30 to 40 feet long by 7 to 9 feet in diameter—that the greater portion of these millions of tons is lost.

Cement manufacturers have long been carrying on scientific studies to reduce the cost of waste.

This is one of a series of advertisements to acquaint the public with the manufacture of cement.

Arctic Explorer Going Back Again to Attempt to Solve the Secret of the Aurora Borealis

Donald B. MacMillan to Establish Laboratory in Search for Story of This Beauty of the Northern Skies.

Donald B. MacMillan, Arctic explorer, whose records upon his return last autumn from pioneer explorations into the interior of Baffin Land excited the wonder of scientists in animal, bird and plant life, is going back into the Arctic next summer to continue the search which has been going on for 30 years for the secret of the aurora borealis.

The explorer, who was a companion of Peary on his North Pole dash, but was sent back with frozen feet when his chief was within 300 miles of the pole, lectured last night at the Buckingham Hotel before the Contemporary Club. Arctic explorations rarely have been recorded in motion pictures. MacMillan showed 6000 feet of film.

"The aurora is the mystery of the Arctic," MacMillan said to a Post-Dispatch reporter. "We know it is electrical. Beyond that, nothing. We speculate whether it is a discharge from that magnetic center within the earth of which we like to think is almost totally ignorant, or whether it is an incandescent glow from meteoric dust. We wonder whether it comes in the form of an electrical visitation from some other planet or the universe in which the world is just a speck, whether it sparkles forth as some manifestation of the workings of the electric pole.

"Of this I am sure. It approaches much nearer the earth than scientists now suppose. The distance most commonly attributed is 60 miles from the earth. Yet I have talked to numerous Eskimauz who had watched it dart down between themselves and some not distant mountain. Peary similarly reported the aurora.

"Eskimauz have heard the aurora spit and crackle like the rustle of a woman's silk dress. It must be quite near to the earth at times.

Plans for Experiment.
"So, in conjunction with the Carnegie Institute of Washington, I intend to establish a laboratory on the north coast of Germany to seek out the story of the beauty of the Northern skies. We think we know how to proceed upon our search. We will stretch an insulated wire 10 miles long across the ground. At either end will be an observer with a telephone head set. Each will have a sight and each will point it at the same spot in the heavens, perhaps some star. Then as the rays of the aurora come within the sight of the observer, the cranks on our motion picture machines set up at either end of our wire. A mathematical calculation upon the basis of these observations will throw some light on the proximity of the aurora. I feel certain. That determined, we hope to explore further into the secret."

MacMillan related that upon his recent 14 months' journey into Baffin Land, quite elaborate scientific studies of terrestrial magnetism were made. The results are being compiled by the Carnegie Institute. So far they have not been announced further than brief word from the director of the institute that they alone justify MacMillan's long journey.

How Data Was Obtained.
MacMillan related how he built the curious elaborate structure that housed the delicate instruments for the observations. "First, we built a house of beaver board," he said, "with nothing of iron in it. Such fastenings as were used were of copper. Then we inclosed this house with another of rock with walls four feet thick, leaving a four-inch air space between the two. Then around the second we constructed a third, with a two-foot air space, and piled the whole over with snow to a great thickness. Only thus were we able to preserve a constant temperature necessary for accurate observation. At that, we were unable to lift that temperature above 20 degrees above zero, for it was 40 degrees below most of the time out of doors.

"Inside, two scientists from the Carnegie Institute spent seven months searching for light on that great magnetic force within the world known to exist, but which no one yet has begun to identify or describe.

Some of His Discoveries.
As has been told in articles written by MacMillan for the Post-Dispatch, he discovered the nesting place of the lesser snow goose and the blue goose in the interior of Baffin Land. He brought back with him 40 bird skins, 30 varieties of eggs and 40 different flowers, most presenting some hitherto unknown peculiarity.

"The Eskimauz told us of two great lakes in the interior of the country," he said. "We found one, the smaller of the two, and the larger comes to me to return to find the other, a body of water approximately 100 miles in diameter."

Many Suicides in Italy.

ROME, March 6.—Italy is having an epidemic of suicide. Young persons in particular and even children take their own lives on the most flimsy pretexts. In the last six days the correspondent has found no less than 20 notices in the newspapers of suicides not to mention attempts at self-destruction. In nearly half the cases disappointment in love or jealousy are the motives.

Dean of House Reporters Dies.

EXCESS CHARITY FUND TO BE APPLIED IN 1924

$70,974 Oversubscription to $1,081,684 Objective Will Be Held in Trust.

The amount oversubscribed to the $1,081,684 Community Fund for 1923 for 40 charities of St. Louis and St. Louis County, will be held in trust and applied to the second annual fund for 1924, officers of the organization announced today. When the campaign closed, Monday night, the oversubscription was $70,974.38, but this amount is expected to be increased when all outstanding pledge cards have been returned.

When the campaign started it was announced no effort would be made to get more than the goal of $1,081,684, and that this amount, if raised, would be all the member agencies would get from the fund this year. In a statement today, John L. Johnston, chairman of the Campaign Committee, said:

"To the people of St. Louis who responded, some $600,000 strong, to the federated appeal of 40 of our leading charitable and philanthropic organizations, belongs the credit for the magnificent success of the Community Fund's first great undertaking. We came to them with an appeal which we knew was irresistible, because it was sound economically and because it was an admitted fact that St. Louis has always cared for its needy and unfortunate and will continue to do so. The results have surpassed our fondest expectations. It is anticipated that a very few pledges will not be paid in full. This may be due to unforeseen circumstances arising over which those making the pledges have no control. When all of the money pledged has been accounted for, and we know definitely where we stand, any oversubscription will be held in trust by the Community Fund to apply on the budget needs of the participating agencies next year."

Johnston announced he had received telegrams yesterday from many of the 112 other cities in which the Community chest plan is in operation, congratulating St. Louis upon the successful outcome of the first campaign.

Harry P. Wareheim, manager of the Rochester (N. Y.) Community Chest, who assisted in managing the St. Louis campaign, said the experience of other cities showed that about 2 per cent of pledges are not realized on in full. On this basis it was estimated that the oversubscription would be much more than enough to take care of this shrinkage. Pledges upon which cash was not paid in advance are payable in quarterly installments, beginning April 1. Bills for the first installment will be sent out soon.

$1500 in cash were captured in a swamp near Fairmount yesterday afternoon and the money recovered. The men wore army uniforms.

HOUSE CAUCUS BOLTED
BY TWO DEMOCRATSRepresentatives Donnelly and Bales Huffed at Defeat of Salary Reduction Bill.By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, March 7.—A break of two Democratic members of the House last night from the party caucus for a time indicated that there might be some question that the party program, now being engineered through the Senate would be passed in the House, but their failure to obtain a following of other members means probably that the bolt will not extend beyond the two.

Last night's caucus was to consider the action to be taken on the party program, which has to do principally with changes in the administration of taxation laws, but also includes several economy measures. Smarter under the defeat administered earlier in the day, when the bill to reduce salaries of virtually all State employees failed to pass, Representatives Donnelly of Laclede County and Representative Bales of Shannon County announced in the caucus that they would not be coerced, and in effect served notice they would bolt the caucus if an attempt was made to force action at that time on the party measures.

Rumors of What Occurred. While the caucus was secret and the exact words of the two Representatives cannot be given, the idea received by other members was that if any attempt was made to tie the Democratic House caucus on the party program without including in it the salary reduction bill, they would walk out and could be considered in opposition to the program.

Representative Roney, caucus chairman, did not put the program to a vote, desiring, it is said, to avoid an open break.

Representative Whitecotton of Monroe County, one of the authors of the salary reduction bill, scored Bales, co-author, and declared the salary bill was ancient history. He said the thing to do was to put through the program and adjourn.

An unusual feature of the caucus was the summoning before it of Senator McCawley, author of the Senate caucus bill abolishing the jobs of all traveling auditors in the State Auditor's office, a measure which would deprive the Auditor of considerable patronage. At the instance of Bales, McCawley was asked to appear and explain the bill. When he had told of its details, Bales, seeking to discredit the measure in a Democratic gathering, demanded to know if it was not in reality prepared at the instance of Gov. Hyde and if it was not introduced with the idea of enabling the Governor to take patronage away from Auditor Hackmann.

Statement of McCawley. McCawley denied that the Governor had had any part in the preparation of the measure or that he had ever talked to the Governor about it. He said he prepared it at the instance of the Democratic caucus in the Senate.

It is understood that Bales will be a candidate for the Democratic nomination for the office of Auditor next year.

Party leaders said after the caucus that they anticipated no difficulty in putting the Senate program through the House and that they did not believe they would lose more than two Democratic votes. They even expressed the opinion those two would be in line when the time for voting arrived.

WIDOW SUFFOCATED IN FIRE ONCE A TEACHER

Mrs. Ella Cowan Kelly, 70, Had for Three Years Refused to Receive Friends.

When firemen broke into a third floor room at 2071 Market street during a fire Monday night, they found the poorly-clad body of Mrs. Ella Cowan Kelly, 70 years old, under a bed. She had been suffocated. Neighbors could tell little of her. She had lived in the room for three years and during that time had refused admittance to all who sought to visit her.

Twenty years ago Mrs. Kelly was assistant principal of the Chouteau School. She was the widow of a Confederate officer, a woman of intellect and grace, wrapped up in the career of an only son whom she was training for a profession. The son died.

Mrs. Kelly resigned from the school. She severed the association of her friends. Shortly she was forgotten by them. Some time afterward she applied for work as a proofreader in a printing shop. Thereafter that intermittent employment among various shops became her source of meager livelihood.

Those who met her in this employment found her repulsive to friendly advances, increasingly morose and taciturn, often sullen.

Her third floor room on Market street was unclean and neglected. There was litter upon the floor and the bed was tumbled about. In a short tidy row upon a shelf were several thumb-worn books. Dickens, Mark Twain, an anthology of the works of the middle and latter nineteenth century poets. Their thick covers had little crests in relief, examples of the highest art of the book-binder of the age. A few periodicals of ancient date lay about. There was nothing of contemporary literature.

Recently she had been unable to read because of the infirmities of age. The fire started from her cook stove. How, the firemen were unable to determine.

Her sole companions of her late years, a mongrel dog and six cats, perished with her.

This Will Ward Off And Break Up Colds

Just a teaspoonful of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin removes the congestion.

THE two ailments that people generally regard as of the least importance are in reality the cause of most serious illnesses and of the greatest proportion of deaths.

They are constipation and common colds. Many doctors now believe that colds, tonsillitis, a touch of malaria will cause constipation, instead of constipation being their cause. The fact remains that you seldom have a cold without constipation, due to general congestion. The only way to avoid colds is to keep up your vitality. You usually catch cold in the winter if you are run down. Therefore in cold weather exercise more; eat more fatty foods; drink four to six glasses of water a day; keep the head cool, the feet warm, the bowels open.

You are also less liable to colds if your system is free from the intestinal poisons of constipation, as Syrup Pepsin. Any drugist will supply you, and the cost is less than a cent a dose.

You'll Get Rid of Blackheads Sure

There is one simple, safe and sure way that never fails to get rid of blackheads—that is to dissolve them.

To do this, get two ounces of calomel powder from any drug store—sprinkle a little on a hot, wet cloth—rub over the blackheads briskly—wash the face and you will be surprised how the blackheads have disappeared. No matter where they are, simply dissolve and disappear. Blackheads are a mixture of dirt and dirt and secretions that form in the pores of the skin. The calomel powder and the water dissolve the blackheads and the water washes the pores free from dirt and in their natural state.

No matter where you have nose pimples or what caused them, you can get quick relief without using narcotics or poisons. Apply Tremol over the part that hurts and the pain will be gone.

Tremol is absorbed through the pores of the skin. It has a soothing, healing effect upon the diseased tissues, gradually bringing them to their normal condition.

Stabbed by Neuritis!

Many people suffer attacks by this dread, commonly called "nerve" inflammation. The first warning is usually a sharp stabbing pain, which may come and go or be constant. You may feel it in the shoulder, neck, forearm, small of the back, or down the thigh and leg to the foot. It is sometimes mistaken for sciatica, rheumatism or neuritis, which it often is.

DR. MOORE URGES
SCIENTIFIC ATTACK
ON SMOKE EVILBotanical Garden Director Addresses the Women's Chamber of Commerce on City's Problem.HELPFUL ADVICE NEEDED, HE SAYSPromiscuous Prosecution and Ignorant Propaganda Must Be Replaced by Technical Methods, Speaker Asserts.

Dr. George T. Moore, director of the Missouri Botanical Garden, said today before the Women's Chamber of Commerce in the Claridge Hotel that the time had come, in his opinion, for St. Louis to attack its smoke problem in a scientific, persistent way, abandoning methods of approach that have failed in the past.

The meeting of the Women's Chamber was devoted to the consideration of the city's smoke. E. T. Olin, professor of mechanical engineering in Washington University, who is chairman of the Advisory Board of Engineers for the enforcement of the smoke ordinance, also spoke.

"The chimney belching smoke sometimes is regarded as a symbol of prosperity," Dr. Moore said. "For this reason attempts to abolish the smoke nuisance frequently have been regarded by business men as attacks upon the prosperity of the community. In view of the methods usually resorted to it is not to be wondered at that those interested in the growth and development of large cities have regarded the advocates of smoke abatement as impractical fanatics."

"Problem is Complete." "Passionate appeals to clean up the atmosphere without any indication as to how it should be done cannot be expected to accomplish much. Men reformers with boundless enthusiasm and a complete lack of technical knowledge are hardly the ones to convince the manufacturer, the manager of the apartment house or the ordinary householder that smoke is such a frightful menace after all."

"The problem is complex and difficult and we shall never get anywhere if we depend only upon temporary enthusiastic propaganda, combined with more or less inefficient inspectors, the prosecution of offenders and the imposition of large fines. Efforts of this sort in the past have availed nothing and the public has not only become indifferent but the engineer, the scientist and local authorities have lost interest. So long as we engage in the usual talk, with no concrete suggestions applicable to the varied conditions of a city like St. Louis you cannot blame the average citizen or city official if he loses interest in the whole subject."

New Methods Needed. "It would appear that the time has come in this city for the inauguration of entirely new methods. The first thing to do is to recognize the extreme difficulty and complexity of the problem. Promiscuous prosecution and ignorant propaganda must be replaced with scientific research, careful control and by smoke, and finally, though not tangible, our personal health and well-being is influenced by the presence of an inordinate amount of coal smoke in the atmosphere. Pittsburgh several years ago computed that the 'black smoke' was $20 per head per annum of nearly $10,000,000. Manchester, England, made a similar computation. To take one item alone, the extra cost to householders caused by the smoke of a neighboring town free from smoke for starch, soap, fuel and similar things needed to combat the effects of smoke was found to be 7 1/2 shillings per week, per household, or approximately $1,000,000 per year. This was computed to be about one-fourth the total loss through smoke, the total exceeding $4,000,000.

"Experience has taught us that many trees and shrubs no longer can be grown in St. Louis, yet they flourish just beyond the city's smoke ring."

RECORDS OF REPUBLICANS
SEEKING ALDERMANIC POSTS
IN CASES OF CONTESTSChief Interest in Presidency of Board Because That Official Also Is Member of Estimate and Apportionment Body.

Party nominees for the office of President of the Board of Aldermen, and for Aldermen from the 14 even-numbered wards, will be named at the city primary Friday. The election to fill these offices will take place April 2.

The President and members of the Board of Aldermen, elected this spring, will serve for four years. The members receive $1800 a year. The President $3000. He has important duties besides that of presiding over the meetings of the board, and the chief of these is serving as a member of the Board of Estimate and Apportionment, on which he sits with the Mayor and Controller, to determine the city's budget of expenditures.

Members of the Board of Aldermen, while living in the wards they represent, are nominated and elected by vote of the entire city. This tends to make the board solidly of the dominant party, and the present Board of Aldermen is solidly Republican.

Republican Contests in 10 Wards. There are contests for the Republican nomination in 10 wards, as well as for the Republican nomination for the office of President. There are no other contests. One Democrat has filed for the office of President, and one for Alderman of each ward, and these will be nominated. Because of the lack of any Democratic contest, it is possible that some Democrats may take a hand in helping the Republicans settle their primary contests. The experience of past primaries has shown that there is no practicable way to "split" this.

Candidates of the American Labor party for President of the board and for Alderman from 13 of the 14 wards, will be named without opposition in the primary. This ticket will represent a coalition between the Socialist organization and labor unions, the Central Trades and Labor Union having endorsed the movement.

Records of the Candidates. The Post-Dispatch here prints information for voters as to the Republican candidates for president of the Board of Aldermen, and for the aldermanic nominees in 10 wards where there are contests.

PRESIDENT.

Walter J. G. Neun, 2915 Chestnut avenue, lawyer. Graduate of Washington University Law School. In 1902, engaged in practice since. Elected in 1918 to fill an unexpired term as circuit judge, and served on the bench one month. President of the Twenty-eighth Ward Republican Club last year, and was elected last August to position of President of the club. Neun is a member of the Twenty-eighth Ward, and was subsequently elected chairman of the committee. He filed for the present contest shortly before the closing time, in reply to the criticism that he should not have become a candidate of office. Neun has said that he was urged by leading Republicans and business men to become a candidate.

Neun is backed by the committee to resign from the committee in advance of the primary.

Oliver T. Remmers, 736 King's Highway Park, lawyer. Graduate of Benton College of Law in 1907. Served in lower House of the Legislature, 1911 and 1913; Republican caucus chairman in his second term. Has been connected with the legal department of Anheuser-Busch since during the most of his period of practice; has lately given most of his time to the brewing concern, having his office in the Anheuser-Busch building, over the sale of liquor. He acted as a spokesman for Anheuser-Busch in the controversy last summer between August A. Busch and Chairman Lasker of the Shipping Board, over the sale of liquor on American ships. This controversy was followed by an order forbidding such sale, and also forbidding foreign ships to bring liquor into American ports. Remmers is vice president of the St. Louis Safety Council and a director of the National Safety Council. He was active in the Republican "housecleaning" movement of three years ago, which was occasioned by the Lowden campaign fund revelations, is affecting leaders of the party in Missouri. Remmers has stated that he voted for Senator Reed, Democrat, last fall, and opposed R. E. Brewster, the Republican senatorial nominee, because he considered Brewster a dry. He has been active in improvement work, and was chairman of the general committee for the election of the Mayor's Traffic Committee, and the legal committee to draft new traffic regulations.

Edward L. Kubs, 8538 Church road, is also named on the official ballot as a candidate for president of the board, but is not an active candidate, having announced his withdrawal last week, when he learned that most of the City Commission would support Neun. It was then too late to change the ballot.

Charles J. Krueger, 4274 Lotis avenue, is a candidate for president of the board of Twenty-sixth Ward at a previous primary; since then, change of ward boundaries has placed him in the Twenty-second.

Chauncey J. Krueger, 2283 South King's highway, lawyer. Elected last November to fill a vacancy. Member Streets, Sewers and Wharves Committee. Was judge of many. Lately Deputy Marshal in City Court No. 1. Ran for a nomination for constable in primary last August; defeated.

William T. Ringhoff, 2742 Caroline street, Deputy Sheriff. Bailiff in Court No. 8. Former paper hanger; has served as Deputy Sheriff seven years. Was nominated for Justice of the Peace last fall, but was defeated in the election.

EDWARD HIRTH, incumbent, 2000A South Second street. Team and hauling contractor. Now completing his first term as Alderman. Member of Ways and Means and Public Welfare committees.

Walter H. Numpf, 3200 South Broadway, drug store proprietor. A director of South Broadway Merchants' and Manufacturers' Association and chairman of its boosters' committee.

William C. Kruse, 2008 South Jefferson avenue, barber; not in politics before.

TENTH WARD. George Melberger, incumbent, 3229 Illinois avenue, foreman in stove manufacturing. Former member City Committee. Elected Alderman to fill a vacancy created in 1920. Member Ways and Means Committee.

Otto Schultze, 3228 South Jefferson avenue, Garage owner. Not in politics before.

TWELFTH WARD. Charles A. Neumann, incumbent, 502 Kansas street, proprietor clothing store. He believed to have supplied Collector Koenig, who has dominated this ward for years. Member Public Welfare and Public Utilities Committees. Completing his second term in his first term voted for United Railways compromise franchise ordinance, which was later repealed after scandal caused by theft of referendum petitions. Was re-elected thereafter.

W. R. Petty, 3119 Michigan street, general yardmaster, Missouri Pacific. Not a candidate before, but says he has been interested in politics, and a supporter of Koenig for 12 years.

FOURTEENTH WARD. Gus A. Paue, incumbent, 2247 Missouri avenue, contractor. Completed his second term. Former member of city committee. Candidate in 1922 primary for nomination for Circuit Court of Criminal Cases, defeated. Member Public Utilities and Legislation Committee. In his first term voted for United Railways compromise franchise ordinance; was re-elected thereafter.

Max Patridge, 3132 Peabody street, superintendent of buildings and bridges for Missouri Pacific Railroad. Formerly a construction engineer for the city.

SIXTEENTH WARD. Adam Reck, incumbent, 3329 Union avenue, retired grocer. Completed his second term. Chairman of Public Utilities Committee. Has established a reputation for interest and attention to detail, and is said never to have missed a board or committee meeting. In his first term voted for United Railways compromise franchise ordinance; was re-elected thereafter.

Conrad Loesch, 4066 Blaine avenue, president of auto repair company. His first political venture.

TWENTIETH WARD. Wilbur C. Schwartz, incumbent, 3816A St. Louis avenue, lawyer. Completed his second term as vice president of the board, and served as acting Mayor for the last few days. "CONDEMNATION CHASING" BY SOME LAWYERS CHARGEDEngineer of City Plan Commission Tells of Letters Written to Property Owners Affected by Bond IssueOFFERS MADE TO CONTEST THE CASESCommittee Authorized to Expose Such Methods and Matter May Be Placed Before Bar Association.

Soliciting of suits to delay condemnation of property for bond issue improvements, and force up prices to be paid for property taken, chiefly benefiting the lawyer, has been started by "condemnation chasing" attorneys, Harland Bartholomew, engineer of the City Plan Commission, told the commission yesterday afternoon.

He urged that property owners be informed, either through the Plan Commission or reputable real estate organizations, of the right to sue to the property owner at least, of long-drawn-out litigation.

Letters were exhibited by Bartholomew, which had been written by legal firms to property owners affected by public improvement projects, offering to contest the cases for 10 per cent of the amount collected from the city.

Exposure of Tactics Planned. E. J. Russell, chairman, was empowered to appoint a committee to prepare a statement to expose such methods. Russell also suggested placing the matter before the Bar Association, which has been waging a campaign against tactics employed by "condemnation chasing" attorneys.

Completion of all the public improvements in the bond issue program involves acquisition of all or part of approximately 3000 pieces of property, with an estimated value of $2,500,000.

There is slight chance of the property owner making a profit out of such litigation, Bartholomew declared, due to the attorney's fees. He pointed out that the owner has a fair hearing before the three commissioners appointed by the Circuit Court in such cases to fix damages and benefits, and has an opportunity to present evidence of excess charges.

"When the case is fought out in a long legal controversy," he said, "the improvement is delayed, the property owner is paid nothing for his property, and the most dangerous of all, the mercenary leech who makes a very profitable business of opposing the city as the objector's expert."

Opinion as to Suits. The commission expressed the opinion that condemnation suits should be filed as soon as possible on all projects where land must be acquired. This was suggested by E. R. Kinney, president of the Board of Public Service.

Nearly a month has passed since the people voted $87,272,500 for the public improvements," Kinney said, "and nothing has been started. The value of the property considered in condemnation is that existing at the time the condemnation suit is filed. It is perfectly stupid to sit and wait for values to go up without filing suits which will check the inflation."

He proposed two methods of condemning ground for the Memorial Plaza, including suits for the courts, and "municipal auditoriums, lagoon and swimming auditorium."

This tract includes 10 city blocks fronting the city hall-municipal courts block. He suggested either one condemnation ordinance for the whole tract or five suits covering as many sections of the tract.

View in Case of Plaza. The Commissioners voted to recommend one suit, declaring one procedure would eliminate inequalities in assessment of damages, reduce the cost of the project, and keep the plan intact. This recommendation will be presented to city officials.

Russell said the plaza item had been paid to go up without any chance to be taken on the being broken up by interests which want some of the buildings placed elsewhere. Bartholomew told the commissioners a campaign was being made to have the courthouse built in the present courthouse instead of in the plaza. "This campaign is organized largely by one man who is interested in other buildings," he said, "and nothing has been done to stop it."

Organization of a strong legal corps, with a staff of appraisal experts, to carry on the condemnation work, was urged in a report to the commission by W. C. Bernard of the commission staff. The Commissioners plan to submit recommendations on this proposal to city officials, at a dinner to be given by Russell at

Dwight F. Davis Takes Oath as Assistant Secretary of War

Davis, who is a St. Louisan and has been a member of the War Finance Corporation, was sworn in last Monday as Assistant Secretary of War to succeed J. The University Club Tuesday night. Members of the Board of Estimate and Apportionment, including the Mayor, Comptroller and President of the Board of Aldermen, Circuit Judges, members of the Board of Public Service, City Plan Commission and the chairman of the Citizens' Supervisory Committee on Bond Issue Expenditures are to be guests.

Text of Recommendations. The report included these recommendations: Appointment of highly qualified men as Commissioners in the condemnation cases.

Standardization of practice by appraisers for the city, and appointment of an Appraisal Committee by the Real Estate Exchange.

Appointment of a competent corps of legal and technical experts by the city.

An increase in the Commissioners' fees from $5, the present rate, to $10 a day, was suggested, to enable the city to get competent men. These Commissioners are appointed by the Circuit Court to expedite procedure.

Referring to litigation, the report stated, "the city, in acquiring property by condemnation, is faced with the task of overcoming the combined resistance of the avaricious property owner who expects three prices for his property; the reactionary owner who strenuously objects to being assessed for benefits; and the mercenary leech who makes a very profitable business of opposing the city as the objector's expert."

Want Strong Legal Staff. Organization of a strong legal staff of attorneys, at salaries suggested at $6000 a year, would save the city at least 10 per cent on the cost of the property. It was said, "On the basis of a $5,000,000 program a staff of 100 attorneys would be a moderate expenditure of $500,000," the report added. "Even a mediocre staff, who will be at the mercy of the opposition, will cost the city $15,000 a year. If the work is done by a staff of 100 attorneys, it will have to be done over. There remains no question as to the penny wise and pound foolish policy of carrying on the work with incapable or inexperienced men."

An ordinance now pending in the Board of Aldermen, prepared by the City Counselor, provides for the employment of four special attorneys in the condemnation action; two at salaries of $2500 a year and two at $2400 a year.

The Board of Public Service yesterday appointed Ethan A. H. Shepley, as special attorney to carry on the condemnation suits to acquire property in St. Louis County, for the $12,000,000 waterworks to be built at Howard's Bend, in the Missouri River, 13 miles west of the city. Shepley has been employed in the City Counselor's office. The appointment, subject to approval by the Board of Estimate and Apportionment, carries a salary of $200 a month.

POLICY FOR PRESENTPrime Minister's Opposition

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, March 7.—The debate in the House of Commons last night on affairs in the Ruhr reflected the growing feeling observed of late in the Liberal and Labor press, deprecating the Government's attitude of benevolent neutrality and insisting that England take a definite stand, not necessarily withdrawing her troops from the Rhine, but informing France plainly in a formal note that England disapproves of the French policy and demands that the French Government explicitly define its intentions towards Germany.

J. Ramsay MacDonald, leader of the Laborites, moved a resolution that, with a view to securing peace, England should invite the French and Belgian chambers to appoint representative committees to meet a similar committee of the House of Commons to exchange views on the occupation of the Ruhr and the problems of security and reparations.

England should have the courage to give the moral lead to Europe and define her position and stand by it, instead of allowing herself to be controlled by events like a puppet, MacDonald declared.

Lord Robert Cecil, who is in charge of the Government's policy, said that the Government should make it quite clear to the other Governments where it stood and what its policy was. H. A. L. Fisher contended that the Government should not be so weak as to allow itself to be controlled by events like a puppet, and that every effort should be made to get the United States in.

Prime Minister Bonar Law, in winding up the debate, declared that France had gained nothing by her Ruhr adventure; on the contrary, she had sustained a heavy loss, and it was impossible to prophesy the outcome. He admitted that the Government had gained nothing by its proposal to the House, and said that perhaps the absence of a policy was bad, but to have a policy which could not succeed and which in itself was bad would be even worse.

Donar Law argued that it was not a question of M. Poincare or his Government. Evidence indicated that, with the present French Chamber, any French Government would have been impelled to the same course. Clearly, the French policy was supported by both chambers and the French people; therefore, the British Government had no alternative before it.

There were only two courses, the Prime Minister continued, to accept the Ruhr advance with the greatest amount of friendly feeling possible, to break France's isolation, and to make two countries practically hostile.

To himself it seemed inevitable that to break the entente would mean the possibility of enforcing England's will on France by war. At this moment France would deeply resent any attempt at mediation. The Government had dissociated itself from the French action, but did not desire to quarrel with France if it could possibly be avoided. The Government's policy would not change with each debate on the situation. He did not believe for a moment that any French statesmen seriously contemplated forming a European bloc against England.

He concluded by asking what sort of reception Mr. MacDonald thought his proposal would meet in the French and Belgian Chambers.

MacDonald's Moderate. MacDonald supported the resolution in a speech characterized by moderation, which elicited from Bonar Law expressions of full agreement with many of his statements, but the Prime Minister maintained his previous position that the time was not ripe for intervention, that such a move would be regarded as hostile to France and that the Government was not prepared to assume that responsibility. He appealed to the Labor leader not to press the matter to a division, and the resolution was talked out.

MacDonald declared that France was rewriting the treaty of Versailles without consulting her allies and events were happening which were only too likely to lead to a new war. He feared that the nations were becoming less shame-faced in openly talking of preparations for the next war, and he warned the House of the possibility of France signing a separate peace with Germany and presenting the allies with the accomplished fact.

Would End Income Tax Secrecy. By Associated Press. MADISON, Wis., March 7.—The Wisconsin Senate voted 15 to 9 yesterday to pass the Stevenson bill, which would remove the clause in the state income tax law, carrying out the mandate which administration Senators claimed had been given by the people at the last election. With this measure now finally disposed of in the upper House, it goes to the assembly for concurrence. Fuel passage is definitely predicted by a large vote in the lower House.

A Committee That Didn't Whitewash.
 To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

To be sure, Mr. Teague, president of the N. J. (No Joke) Standard Oil Co., would whine because his benevolent and abused corporation had not been given the customary vindication, and that his statements stand absolutely and positively undisputed. Well, somebody should tip Mr. Teague to the fact that the finding by the LaFollette Senatorial Committee is right in line with fixed public opinion, and it meets with general sanction.

The fabulous profits and sky-rocketing values of all stocks having a Standard Oil smell, is the very best proof that the public is being skinned to a frazzle, and it is none too soon for drastic and effective action that will trim the hoots and horns of every scion of the Standard Oil breed.

We may now look for a greater frequency of the half-page advertisements, which the public accepts as being just so much spent to chloroform the newspaper.

The Theater Situation.

How come? Kings Theater closed when Low always had a good and undoubtedly paying house? How come? A new theater to be built at Grand and Morgan, when there are plenty of these attractions in that locality? Is it possible that the moving picture combine is going to control district attractions, limiting vaudeville to a certain district? It is certainly cause for wonderment that Low would close the Kings.

S. O. S. From Morrison Avenue and Hickory Street.
 To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

THERE is a very strong rumor that a certain party is going to build an ice plant on a vacant lot between Morrison avenue and Hickory street, and right west of the new Twelfth street.

Now, if such a thing—such a nuisance—as an ice plant is really being started on a nice street like Morrison avenue, it is a dirty shame—insult heaped upon a majority to the poor, hard-working property owners of that section. Not 10 years ago the Mill Creek sewer was built, and the neighborhood lost by the people who could stand the nuisance no longer and who moved away. Nevertheless, the good people put up with the nuisance because they believed that the sewer would benefit the neighborhood and, in turn, the city.

In 1920 an alley that they call it a street was cut through in a curved line from Twelfth and Chouteau to Park avenue. For this as well as the easy Mill Creek sewer, the people of the section were heavily taxed. This all goes to say that their rights and their word should have some influence after all these taxes and nuisances.

But now, to cap it all, they say we will have a noisy old ice house in our midst, drawing around noisy merchants in the early hours of the morning, waking up the people!

Giving Into Caesar.

SOME time ago there appeared in the newspapers a statement saying that four noted members of the Ku Klux Klan marched into the Winstanley Baptist Church in this city and handed the pastor a check for $25, also a check for the janitor for $15. Now probably the public was not aware of the fact that the Klan have been meeting every Monday and Friday night in the Winstanley Baptist Church since the first of the year.

The explanation is that the money given to the pastor was for rental, and the $15 to the janitor was for his labor of cleaning house after said meetings.

THE writer was just wondering the other day why you do not call the attention to the voters that one of the "three K's" is a candidate for the Board of Aldermen. If he was not fit to be a Judge, how unfit to be a city father. Let them know who the candidates are.

Capital in the Grocery Business.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

REFERRING to your editorial of Feb. 17, relative to the chain store bill now pending in the State Legislature, kindly permit me to say the following: You say that this law is a discrimination against capital and that business is for the service of the public. Please tell me: When has capital ever done anything for the public service? Hasn't it been proved persistently that capital gained control of anything it would bleed the public to death, as for instance, the Standard Oil Co. and other large corporations?

YAPPIISM IN THE SADDLE.

The combine of the yap and the peanut politician is again at work in the State Capitol to set back the clock of progress in Missouri.

When the Post-Dispatch, during the Gardner administration, called attention to the deadly effect of the combination of yap, peanut politician and special interest lobbyist to block the wheels of progress and keep Missouri in the swamp of muckback influence, two of the chief factors in the retrogressive movement were the yap tax dodger and the yap good roads obstructor. The former, in combination with the special interest magnate, wanted to prevent the equalization of tax assessments and the latter wanted to hog all the road money of the State for his own dirt roads.

The Gardner administration, despite these obstructive influences, accomplished something. One of its best achievements was the creation of an efficient Tax Commission.

The Tax Commission has done good work. It has supplied data upon which the Board of Equalization has been enabled to some extent to correct inequalities of property assessments and to fix assessment valuations of rural counties on a basis which permitted the county authorities to obtain badly needed funds to support public schools, roads and other improvements.

Because the Board of Equalization of the Hyde administration acted upon the information and recommendation of the Tax Commission to raise assessments in grossly underassessed counties the yap is yapping with all his might and the peanut politicians in Jefferson City are yielding to the selfish and senseless clamor.

The equalizing of assessments has not increased the State taxes in the counties to an appreciable amount. The State tax, through lower rates, is a bagatelle in the rural districts, but the local taxes were heavier. The counties got the full benefit of these taxes and they needed the money, but the yap wanted the cities to pay everything, to supply practically all the money for their roads and schools and relieve them of taxation. They want the counties to be, not the supporters, but the beneficiaries, of the State.

The result of the clamor is the action of the Senate, which, by a straight party vote, has passed a bill abolishing the State Tax Commission.

If the House takes similar action, which is confidently expected, a long step backward will be accomplished. The present Democratic Legislature, through partisan prejudice and resentment, and weak yielding to muckback, backward influences, will undo the progressive work of a former Democratic administration and brand the party as a party of reaction and stagnation.

The Tax Commission is a necessity. Its need has long been recognized. The State must have a body of this kind to investigate assessments and tax conditions, keep the Board of Equalization informed and recommend needed changes in tax methods. The Tax Commission is not to be abolished because it was inefficient and did bad work, but because it was efficient and did good work and because its work enabled the Board of Equalization to comply with the Constitution.

If the Constitution is violated and the State is thrust back into the mire of lawless political dodging, if Missouri is again plunged into moral and financial bankruptcy the Democratic party will be responsible. The knife which the party leaders are aiming at Gov. Hyde will strike the vitals of their own party. Bourbonism that violates law, works injustice and affronts decency cannot succeed.

The first work of the new organization to boost Missouri and put the State on the forward path will have to be the retirement of the bourbons from office and the destruction of the combine of yap and peanut politician as a controlling force in State affairs.

We assume that Gov. Hyde will veto the Tax Commission bill should the House follow the Senate's action. It is his duty to protect the State and definitely place the responsibility for yappism.

THE COMMUNITY FUND VICTORY.

Another great civic victory was won for St. Louis in the oversubscription of the Community Fund by $11,000. The raising of $1,152,534 for the organized charities and philanthropies of the city means a new declaration of independence for those workers who have struggled so hard against sickness and want and for the health and character-building agencies of St. Louis in the face of disheartening deficits.

Too much credit cannot be voted to the organizers of St. Louis' first community effort in behalf of the combined benevolent organizations of the city, some of which, however, failed to join in the movement for the present year. No less creditable and praiseworthy was the unselfish service of the speakers and solicitors who combed the town and secured subscriptions from rich and poor.

The success of the initial community fund campaign and the fact that the organizations included in the general budget are better provided for than they ever were before definitely establishes this plan as a permanent institution. It renders the city conscience free and rids its citizens of the nuisance of the many solicitations between which, in the past, there has been no basis for judgment as to merit or need.

St. Louis can do big things! In the success of the bond campaign for the expansion and improvement of the city this proposition was proved. In the altruistic enterprise of the Community Fund it was emphasized.

In defense of the act of which he was nominally the joint author Mr. Fordney declared that the tariff would not increase prices and if prices did go up it would be the work of profiteers, who should be swiftly prosecuted and jailed. That ought to make the sugar barons shake—with laughter.

WHO IS THE DUMB-BELL?

"What is the meaning of the word immoral as applied to motion pictures?" Who knows? There probably are not two preachers of the gospel in St. Louis who would give the same or very nearly same answer to this question which was one of a number put to candidates for the position of "movie" censor of Chicago.

"Would you sanction the showing of a writhing snake prominently shown in a motion picture scene?" Why not? What has that to do with public morals? Is it because possibly a writhing snake resembles a writhing vampire?

Forty-three candidates took the examination and have been condemned as dumb because none could make the grade of 70 per cent. We would suggest, on the basis of some of the questions published, that the examiner himself be haled before a court of common intelligence to show cause why he should not bear the brand of dumb-bell. Or is it simply impossible to frame an intelligent list of questions on the silly assumption that standards of propriety and morality are fixable and that censorship is a normal function of the human mind?

The spectacle of a group of portly barons dancing gaily around the festive sugar bowl is an accomplishment of the Sixty-seventh Congress which Mr. Mondell omitted from his rhapsody.

HOW IT WORKS.

James Marsden was not what is known as a "police character." So far as is known, he was an average, law-abiding citizen. But he had a "gun" on him when two thugs fell upon him and "beat him up." Foolishly, as it turned out, he went to the police and complained that, in the biblical phrase, he had "fallen among thieves" who had grievously wounded him. But his concealed pistol, which he had failed to draw in time to protect himself from the thugs, and which he claimed he was carrying because he had been threatened, was his undoing. It won him 30 days in the workhouse, as the story goes.

Had the Judge chosen to inflict the penalty provided in the concealed weapon law, Marsden would have gone to the penitentiary and been branded as a felon. But even a workhouse sentence is unjust when a man simply carries a pistol for self-defense, as the Constitution authorizes him to do. The present law lumps the just and the unjust together and is unworkable.

The law is to prevent and punish crime. It should give the law-abiding citizen his rights, under a permit, based on character. With such a law, juries would not be unwilling to convict.

In Boston as an artist Mme. Walska was a problem. In Chicago, as the wife of Harold McCormick, she will be an issue.

HERE we are talking about getting on and boasting of having an active school of two-story thinking, and all the time our friend Arkansas has cast him out of the schools, as has Oklahoma. It looks as if the whole country between the River des Peres and the Rio Grande were going back to the Book of Genesis, and accepting that as the impetus we have made in the outlying country we would as well sell our debating gowns and take up something like bridge. Here, what the Oklahoma Leader says about the situation in that sector:

"Now they've done it. The Legislature of Oklahoma has followed the lead of progressive Arkansas and barred the teaching of evolution from the public schools.

"Our statesmen are dead right. For nearly a century the menace of evolution has been creeping upon us. But we gave no heed to the approaching calamity until Arkansas rose in its might and stopped evolution by legislative enactment.

"However, while our great sister State to the east has erected a temporary barrier to the insidious progress of evolution, let us not fool ourselves with the fond hope that Arkansas has stopped evolution from evolving. Who knows that some dark night evolution will not speak around Arkansas and invade Oklahoma through Texas or Kansas? It may even be carried into our State by bootleggers or by cattle, as happened in the case of Texas ticks.

All honor, therefore to the Oklahoma solons who have taken the bull of evolution by the horns before it horned itself into the heads of our innocent children."

Sir: Modern journalism justly prides itself upon being a vehicle of public enlightenment, the "people's university," and many newspapers must be credited with having such an ideal before them (notably the Post-Dispatch). Strange to say, it appears, in some exceptional cases, as if there was a serious doubt as to the proper area to which the public belonged, causing as much difference in the matter of education as there is between the twentieth century A. D. and the twentieth century B. C. It is therefore a moot question as to what historical era your twinkling evening contemporary is supposed to be instructing with its "Daily Horoscope." Some have gone so far as to suspect that the prevailing commercialism has invaded it, thus causing such an appeal to the last possible remnant of unintelligence. If not this, what can be the explanation?

Florists ask the rest of us to say it with flowers, yet the late Florist Waldhart, yielding to a weakness against which his business warns us all, sought to meet the expectation of him at death with something so unsanitary and unfragrant as money. That he failed is more than the punishment deserved by his apostasy from a veritable benediction almost lifting the flower-shop out of the evil-smelling sordidness of business. It is a rededication to our acceptance, both in the spirit of sentiment and the fullness of wisdom, of the celebrated motto, "Say it With Flowers." Nobody to whom the florist lent money buried a tearful face in it as a token, as would have been the case had the florist practiced what he preached and left her roses and there violets—unto each the flower best symbolizing and sweetly, not merely what he felt as to those among whom he had lived, but the tenderness in which each of them held him. All those to whom he tried to say it with money, houses and automobiles are disappointed with what they got, which was as surely to be the case with human nature as that saying it with flowers he would have offended no one with less chrysanthemums than someone who had befriended him had in mind or fewer daffodils than someone who had been able to help him to success thought of as fully requiting that kindness. So do we reveal at last our weakness, and so are we all made to suffer for the instability of one another in any ideal. We will repeat the beatitude in the emphasis of capital letters: SAY IT WITH FLOWERS.

The MIRROR of PUBLIC OPINION

RESTORATION OF EUROPE.

From the New Republic.

EUROPE is now going through a convulsion which when it is over may remove the obstacles which have prevented the league from functioning as an agency of peace and goodwill. The league will, we hope, benefit from the convulsion, but the convulsion itself will require more heroic treatment than the league is capable of supplying. What should that treatment be? Norman Angell in a recent issue of the New Leader, the organ of the Independent Labor party in Great Britain, advises that party to insist on the following measures: "Immediate revision of the treaty, cessation of all co-operation with France, the denunciation of all measures which lame and embarrass Germany or Russia; complete and immediate peace with Russia; tripartite economic agreements among England, Russia and Germany; the organization by treaty as far as may be, of free trade in the area represented by those states; facilitation of loans a credits to both; in fact a social, political and economic political alliance." According to our own observation Mr. Angell overestimates the amount of change which has recently taken place in British public opinion. It will be a long time before any policy such as he proposes will become either sentimentally or politically possible, but if France continues her present course the British Government will in the end be forced to act about as Mr. Angell suggests. The British Government which will do it will, however, have to be manned by the Labor party.

PRISON REFORM.

Adolph Lewisohn in Atlantic Monthly.

IT is, of course, intolerable that men should be incarcerated under such conditions as are almost certain to degrade, if not to brutalize, them and which tend to make them thus a greater menace to the society which they have already injured. The very self-respect of the community, as well as the instinct of self-preservation, demands that it prevent the degradation of the prisoner and do all that is possible to bring him into sound and decent relationship with society.

HOME FOR AMERICAN EMBASSY.

From the Galveston News.

ONE HUNDRED AND SIX years ago Albert Gallatin wrote: "The prospect seems good that the United States will purchase a building for its embassy within a year." He was Minister to France at the time. According to Ambassador Herrick, for the entire period of 104 years "no succeeding envoy has been hoping that this might come true." One reason for that, of course, is that the Ambassadors now have to pay for the rent of their own residences out of a salary which by no means permits them to maintain the dignity of their position. It is one of the reasons why only wealthy Americans can afford to head an embassy. But now, at the end of 104 years since the optimistic remark of Gallatin, Congress has authorized the purchase for $100,000 of an official residence and office for the Ambassador to France. The Hotel de Conde was formerly the residence of Comte Chambour, who was a descendant of Lafayette. Its adaptation to the purpose suggested is said to be completed. It is near the principal Government buildings, French administrative and legislative bodies, as well as to the legations of other nations. The handicap under which the American representatives in Paris have been working for an embassy building may be seen from the fact that the embassy of the British legation is set down at nearly $1,000,000, that of the German embassy at $1,000,000, the Austrian at $2,000,000 or $3,000,000, even Little Holland has purchased an embassy building at a cost of $200,000 more than the United States is now about to pay. The opportunity of European countries at present offers opportunity to the country to acquire needed location property at a minimum expense.

NEW YORK—

In discussing the Cap series of articles about the New York Tribune, I wrote:

It Seems to Me

NEW YORK—

In discussing the Capper bill in a series of articles about divorce in the New York Tribune, Isabel Ross writes:

"Moral cruelty" is, of course, a term hard to define, but the easy-going courts of some American states have given it a notoriously elastic interpretation. The "American Official Report on Divorce," issued by the Labor Bureau, cites some examples where divorces have been granted on the most trivial and frivolous grounds. For instance: "A woman complains that her husband does not wash himself, thereby inflicting on plaintiff great mental anguish."

Just what, we wonder, does Miss Ross mean by "trivial"?

In fact, every case, which is advanced to prove that divorces are often granted on frivolous grounds seems to us above criticism. "A wife complains that her husband has accused her sister of stealing, thereby sorely wounding her feelings. And why not? Should she smile and say, 'How do you do, dear?'"

And again, "Another woman says, 'During our whole married life my husband has never offered to take me out driving. This has been a source of great mental suffering and injury.'"

This seems a little less imperative than the others which thus sadly stated, but if the whole story were built up in detail we are not sure that a good case might not be established. Perhaps, every cent the family could save went to buy this horse and buggy or automobile. The wife aided the growth of the fund by the most rigorous economy. Finally, the great day came. The husband took a train into town and drew the little board out of the trunk.

Along about 6, the wife, drudging away in the kitchen, heard at the front door a honk, or maybe it was a neigh. The car (or horse and buggy) stood at the curb. There was still just enough sun to show off the new paint and make it glisten.

"Right smart," replies Jim. "It would take her no more than three minutes to change her old house dress. One minute goes by and then three or four more."

"Well," remarks Jim, "I thought you might want to see it. Guess I'll skip along to Millerville and give the neighbors a treat. Take your time getting dinner ready. I won't be home till about 7, or maybe 8. Well, anyway, I'll be home by 9. Have some coffee ready. It's been a tough day for me."

The fourth case seems to us to stand absolutely above the need of any interpretation. Merely as stated, it leaves no room for argument. "A fourth," writes Miss Ross, "that her husband has recently taken from the New Testament about twelve verses which he reads to her every night. She complains that the Lord commanded her to work, and that he was in the habit of quoting Scriptural passages in order to show her that she was to be obedient to her husband."

In this case we would find grounds for manslaughter, let alone absolute divorce. We can imagine no more fearful ordeal than being forced, through illness or to some body else's notions about religion. As a matter of fact, we bristle merely at reading newspaper accounts of divorces in which people undertake to explain in their own words the precise intent of the Lord concerning their friends and neighbors. The plight of the victim shut into four walls with such a person gives us the horror. And yet Isabel Ross is able to tell of the man who did not wash himself, the one who blithely spread accusations of thievery, the one who monopolized the horse and buggy for his own uses, and the fourth, who thought of himself as the mouthpiece of God; she is able to outline these situations and yet write:

"Absolute divorce was allowed in all of the cases cited, which goes to show that the divorce laws can be absurd and grotesque as well as conflicting."

Naturally, there will never be any sane divorce legislation in America as long as people believe that cruelty is something which only you do with a stick and that if only a husband remains faithful he has a right to be as obnoxious as he pleases.

Many a wife, we believe, would be absolutely justified if she were moved to exclaim, "Never mind being so blame faithful. Just be a little decent."

"Why haven't you mentioned Clement Wood's 'Nigger'?" writes Jessie Fauset. "I have been anxiously awaiting an expression of your feelings about it. Especially after the comment you had to make on Stripling's 'Birthright'."

"Mr. Wood's book is not as brilliant a performance as Stripling's, but it is a much truer one in that the colored heroes are neither sentimentalized over nor made funny. I must say frankly that this is still not the sort of novel which we colored people want to read. (In that case, why don't we write about ourselves?) you ask. Well, some of us are trying to. But it has this marked improvement over nearly all books by white writers about colored people which have preceded it. It shows a tendency to view the negro as a human being with problems of his own and with a life of his own to live. That is, he isn't seen simply as an adjunct to the other races in the country."

ELMAN VENTURES AN UNHACKNEYED PROGRAM

Korngold's Novel Suite, "Much Ado About Nothing," Has First Performance Here.

By RICHARD L. STOKES.

WITH all his old rich luster of tone and mastery of technique, Max Elman, after three years' absence, returned to the Odeon last night, a violinist of new poise and restraint. While playing he stood erect and quiet, having doffed, in forgetful moments, the familiar feints, ducks, crouches and side-steps of a boxer. His music, too, with some exceptions, had freed itself of much of the exaggerated sentimentality which once endeared him to the groundlings. And now that the former prodigy is rising into the artist, his reward was an audience that was small and, for a time, unresponsive.

Moreover, instead of wooing the mob with numbers made familiar by the phonograph, Elman hazarded a program which, for merit and enterprise, no violinist has recently equaled in this city. Here was no Bruch concerto, or "Old Refrain," or "Hymn to the Sun." On the contrary, the name of Erich Wolfgang Korngold of Vienna, who won international fame as a composer while in his teens, appeared for the first time on a St. Louis program.

He was represented by a suite, "Viel Larmen um Nichts," which consists of selections from incidental music for Shakespeare's "Much Ado About Nothing." If not a great work, it proved an interesting and novel one; if the ideas were not epochal, they were couched in a new idiom. Poetry and beauty appeared with a fresh charm of harmony, an unhackneyed tang of rhythm.

Movements of the Suite. The suite, the first of three movements, "Märdchen in Brautemach," pictures fair Hero of Messina attired in bridal array for her nuptials with Claudio. The second, "Hilfepfeil und Schilfwein," grotesquely portrays a march of the watch, with immortal Dogberry strutting in the lead of Verges, Hugh Oatsake and George Seacole. The third, "Glanzende Begegnung," represents Benedick and Beatrice's bitter-sweet wooing in Leonardo's garden. The fourth, called "Mummenshantz," or masquerade, depicts the wedding revelers at a boisterous hornpipe.

This, the third number on the program, dispelled a chill which had hung about the hall, and won three encores—Beethoven's Minuet, Schubert's "Ave Maria," in which the performer's thirds and sixths sounded like two whole sections of violins, and a transcription of Moszkowski's piano piece, "Gitarre," one of the most brilliant pieces of the evening.

The once sensational Elman began his program in classic style, with Handel's Sonata in D Major. The slow movements, particularly the "Espagnole," ensued; and then, as an encore, came an extraordinary minuet of Haydn, so effective that its unfamiliarity causes astonishment. The concluding piece was Chopin's D-flat Major Nocturne, Sarasate's "Jota," and Drigo's "Valse Bluette."

Social Items

The coming of the Dartmouth College Glee Club to St. Louis on Friday, April 6, has attracted interest among the younger social set. Mrs. James M. Francis, whose son is a student at Dartmouth, has invited a group of girls, who will serve as patronesses, to her home, 16 Lenox place, for the late afternoon of the day of the concert, and later they will be present at a table d'hôte dinner at the Hotel Chase. The concert will be sung in the ball room following the dinner, and that in turn is to be followed by a moving picture film of the winter sports at Dartmouth. Later there will be dancing.

The club numbers 60 members, under the leadership of Sherman Clough of New York, president.

Mrs. Charles Eugene Smith and her baby son of Little Rock, Ark., are visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Cottam, of 5748 McPherson avenue. Mrs. Smith was before her marriage, Miss Dorothy Cottam.

PRIVATE PERFORMANCE OF "REIGEN" TO BE GIVEN BY CLUB

Schnitzler's Play to Be Performed For First Time in America Sunday Night in New York.

SPECIAL to the Post-Dispatch. NEW YORK, March 7.—The first performance in America and the first performance in English in the world, of Arthur Schnitzler's much discussed play, "Reigen," will be given by the Green Room Club at the Belasco theater Sunday night. The play, long regarded in dramatic and literary circles as a classic, but of such a nature as practically to preclude its public presentation, will be given before an audience limited to club members and their guests. At the play and at a dinner preceding it at the club house, Otto H. Kahn will be the guest of honor, in appreciation of his interest in and services to the American theater.

As first planned, the female parts in the play were to have been taken by members of the club, but this was found impossible soon after rehearsals started because of the intimate nature of scenes and the loss of illusion thus caused. Five actresses will have parts in the 10 episodes, but only men guests will be admitted.

Each episode is a scene between a man and a woman, one of whom appears in the succeeding scene with another partner. In the last episode the girl from the first scene appears, thus completing the cycle. "Reigen," the title, means circle. When the play was produced in Berlin a few years ago, it caused so much furor that riots resulted in the theater and the play was taken off. It has been played in other parts of Europe and is generally recognized as one of the greatest works of Schnitzler, who is the author of "The Affairs of Anatol," "Professor Bernhardi," "The Green Cockatoo," "Liebelei" and other plays.

NEGRO WHO SAYS HE'S 114 HURT

John Jackson, a negro truck gardener and basket maker, who insists he is 114 years old and who resides south of East St. Louis, was knocked down yesterday by a passenger train on the Illinois Central Railroad at the Cahokia road crossing.

He is unable to tell how the accident happened, or what he was thinking about that caused him to walk directly in the path of the locomotive. The crossing watchman said he lowered the gates and yelled at Jackson, who kept on walking and the locomotive brushed past him so close that something extending from the locomotive struck a basket Jackson was carrying, spun him around a time or two and he fell to the ground. He got up, walked to an ambulance and was taken to a hospital. He was bruised and one arm was wrenched.

DR. MOORE URGES SCIENTIFIC ATTACK ON SMOKE EVIL

Ask those in charge of the city park department their cooperation in trying to beautify the grounds about the city hall if you want an idea of the limitations imposed by smoke. At the Missouri Botanical Garden a large collection of evergreens such as pines, junipers, abies, hemlocks, larches, yews and firs, which had previously constituted such an attractive element in the landscape, have practically disappeared.

"The effect upon trees which annually shed their leaves is not so marked since, of course, they do not expose throughout the year such a large surface to be affected by smoke. The fact remains, however, that such trees as birches, beeches, hickories, alders, sour-gums, hard maples, crabapples, lindens and black locusts, have been almost entirely eliminated from sections of the city subjected to serious smoke trouble. Even the red bud shows the effect and it is practically impossible satisfactorily to bloom dog-woods, crabapples, lilacs and other trees and shrubs in the garden. The golden bell and the bridal wreath often fail to bloom at all in the garden and weigelas, hydrangeas, flowering currants, roses and a long list of similar shrubs are increasingly showing the effects of having to live in an atmosphere more or less saturated with toxic substances."

Effect Upon Health.
Dr. Moore referred to the effect of smoke upon health, stating that in Manchester and Glasgow in the British Isles, an increase in the death rate from respiratory diseases has been established during the periods of fog when the amount of soot in the atmosphere was increased.

"If we can get it before the people of St. Louis," he concluded, "that the material damage done by smoke amounts to at least several million dollars a year; that the life of our trees, shrubs and plants is shortened if not destroyed by our impure atmosphere and that the effect of an undue amount of smoke upon our health and nerves is also worthy of careful consideration, if the general public could be made to recognize these facts, then the smoke nuisance could be abolished."

"The methods to be used and the means to be employed, I am not concerned with at this time, but it is absurd to assume that the condition is hopeless and that the combined co-operation of the city authorities, engineers and scientists competent to make helpful suggestions and above all, the interest of the users of coal, from the smallest householders to the greatest manufacturer, would not result in the accomplishment of the results desired."

C. of C. Official Says Smoke Has Advertising Value.

Smoke which envelops St. Louis has some value as an advertisement, in the opinion of R. D. Sangster, industrial commissioner of the Chamber of Commerce.

He said yesterday that he did not consent that it has its disadvantages.

but that "our cloud of smoke might well be envied by people of other cities which are removed from the coal fields."

"Except for the smoke produced by heating plants in homes and apartment houses," Sangster said, "the smoke we breathe has come from chimneys towering above whirling wheels in manufacturing plants. We can only hope that visitors to St. Louis will regard each flake of soot as evidence of our industry and our favorable location near coal fields."

AMERICAN HISTORY FOR CHILDREN

Mexican Leaders Signed the Treaty Carried With the American Army After General Scott Had Been Handed a Flag of Truce at Mexico City.

Americans Win at Cerro Gordo Hill.

By HENDRIK VAN LOON
Author of "The Story of Mankind"

ON the 9th day of March of this same year, 1847, Gen. Winfield Scott landed his army of 12,000 men upon the coast three miles from the town of Vera Cruz. For five days his army besieged the city, while the fleet bombarded it from the bay.
Then the white flag of surrender was raised.

Mexico City was 250 miles in the interior, but there was a good road running all the way to it. Eighty miles from the coast, Scott met the enemy, with Santa Anna in command, guarding a mountain pass through which this road led. In a two-day battle known as the battle of Cerro Gordo, from the name of the hill where the Mexican army was posted, the Americans were victorious, and Santa Anna fled, leaving behind him 3,000 prisoners and a large part of his guns and supplies.

Now Gen. Scott had with him, much to his annoyance, a man named Trist, who was Chief Clerk of the State Department, and who carried with him in his pocket the rough draft of a treaty of peace. President Polk had sent him along with the expedition because he thought that the Mexicans, as soon as they realized how overwhelming were the odds against them, would resign themselves to the inevitable and sign the treaty, giving up what we were determined to take in any event. But President Polk was wrong.
The Mexicans preferred to die in defense of their rights.

After Cerro Gordo, came four months of inaction, while Mr.
Trist tried in vain to induce certain Mexican gentlemen to put their signatures upon his scrap of paper. Then on again, toward Mexico City.

By the end of August the American forces were close upon the capital. Another halt and Mr. Trist to the fore again with his treaty, getting somewhat travel-stained by now. Still the Mexicans would not sign. Then Gen. Scott, losing all patience, told Mr. Trist to put his treaty back in his pocket, and, marching on, captured Molino del Rey, only four miles from the ancient City of Mexico.

On the 13th day of September Scott captured the fortress of Chapultepec, built upon a rock 150 feet high. By nightfall he was before the gates of Mexico City. There was no resistance. What would have been the use? The city officials came out to meet Gen.
Scott, and handed him a flag of truce and the keys of the city.
The Americans marched in and ran the Stars and Stripes up over the palace.

Gen. Scott's angry protests concerning the activities of Mr.
Trist had finally reached Washington, and orders for his recall reached Mexico just when the capital had been taken. So Trist, instead of obeying and going back home, presented his treaty once more, and on the 2d day of February, 1848, the Mexicans signed it at Guadalupe Hidalgo, a little town near the capital.

The terms were as follows: The southern boundary of Texas was to be the Rio Grande. The United States was to have New Mexico and California, and in return was to pay Mexico $15,000,000 and assume all claims of American citizens against her. The payment of the $15,000,000 was a fine salvo for our official conscience.
No one could accuse us now of a war of conquest. The land we had acquired had been paid for with good American dollars.

Readers who clip and preserve these articles will have a splendid collection of historical facts. Valuable for reference or for supplementing the study of history by children.

DUBLIN TAX OFFICE BLOWN UP

By the Associated Press.
DUBLIN, March 7.—A land mine was exploded at the door of the income tax office in Beresford place today, killing Detective Patrick Kelly and wrecking the office. Adjoining property, including the offices of the national railwaymen's union, was damaged.

Kelly went to the door when the raiders knocked and was blown to pieces.

Paderewski States:

"The DUO-ART is supreme" and Paderewski knows

Because, this great musician has studied the powers and possibilities of various expression pianos and selected the Duo-Art to make his playing immortal, as the Duo-Art alone is capable of recording all that was played and of reproducing all that was recorded.

An Important Statement by Mr. Paderewski:

November 1, 1932
"My attention has been called to the fact that the manufacturers of certain Reproducing Pianos are advertising rolls bearing my name, for use with their instruments.

"In justice to myself, and for the protection of the public, I deem it necessary to make the following statement:

"I have never played for any American reproducing instrument other than the Duo-Art.

"Some fifteen or sixteen years ago, I recorded in Germany for a German instrument. Since then I have never made a music-roll record of my playing except for the Aeolian Company, and, because, in my opinion, their remarkable instrument, the Duo-Art, is far superior to all other reproducing pianos, I have entered a life agreement to record exclusively for that instrument."

Ignacy Paderewski

Have you heard the new Paderewski Duo-Art Rolls? They're magnificent.

Europeans have been educated for generations to drink mineral waters and, by contact through travel, a considerable number of Americans were converted to their worth, which resulted years ago in the shipment to this country of thousands of bottles of European mineral waters.

However, credit is due our own medical profession for scattering broadcast throughout this country a better knowledge of the absolute necessity for good mineral water, particularly in the treatment of certain diseases, and also for proving that this country produced the most remarkable waters in the world.

When we are told by competent authorities that 85% of our blood is made up of water, it is the proper time to consider very seriously what kind of water we are consuming.

Doctors who have to do with hospitals know that a large percentage of the patients who die there show signs of Kidney Disease.

The records of Life Insurance Companies, too, show a large proportion of rejections due to some dangers from these diseases.

One of these dangers is the harm that is done secretly, for the symptom is not always apparent until the disease has made considerable progress.

Your physician will verify that, and he will also verify the statement that Mountain Valley Water has shown most remarkable results in the treatment of diseases of the kidneys, bladder and stomach, and also as a preventive of these diseases.

It is the very cheapest health insurance you can purchase.

11:30 O'clock
May Hanaway McDougall, soprano; Vera Ottmann Wilkings, mezzo-soprano; Mrs. Mary Hanaway, contralto; and Mrs. Lillian Drees, pianist. Emmanuel Church orchestra, Elias Aehle, director.

Sacred songs representing the three dominant religions of the world, Catholic, Protestant and Jewish, were a feature of the program broadcast by Station K S D last night. The singer was Mack Mudd, lyric tenor and choir soloist at the B'Nai El Temple and at the Emmanuel Episcopal Church, and the songs chosen were the Ave Maria, which was sung in Latin, the Pharisee and the Publican, an anthem very much used in the Protestant Churches, sung in English, and Eli Eli, the Jewish lamentation song used on ceremonial occasions in the Jewish Church. The last was sung in Yiddish. Preceding the singing in Yiddish a literal translation was read, which helped listeners in to follow the words of the lament.

The singer gave a very artistic program, including groups of old negro melodies, modern love songs and two others of equal interest. His clear, high voice was never to better advantage than in his last night's program.

Assisting in the program was Miss Lino Anton, violinist of unusual breadth of tone and intelligent interpretation. Miss Anton, who is a niece of P. G. Anton, the pianist, already has made a definite place for herself in the violin field, and her performance last night was another triumph.

George Cibulka, organist at the Old Cathedral and well known St. Louis musician, accompanied the singer and violinist and added greatly to the success of what was pronounced by persons who listened in, to be one of the best concert broadcasts by Station K S D.

For this week only, Wednesday is silent night at K S D. Therefore, there will be no broadcast of any kind from this station after the 4 o'clock period today. There will be a program tomorrow night at 8 o'clock and another at 11:30 o'clock.

TAXI COMPANY HEAD SAYS
50 STRIKERS CAN'T RETURN

Fifty union chauffeurs, who "walked out" last night on the Brown Taxi Co., 4619 Delmar boulevard, announced they would return to work tonight when informed by their business agent that the strike was unauthorized by the union, but William J. Brown, president of the taxi company, said they would do nothing of the kind. He said he would hire new men in their places.

The strike occurred at 8 p. m. after two chauffeurs had been discharged. The 50 chauffeurs demanded the reinstatement of the two men and when it was refused they quit work in a body. The company suspended service for the night.

Brown said he paid his chauffeurs $27.50 a week, the union scale, and if 20 per cent of their weekly receipts was in excess of that amount, he allowed them the difference as a bonus. The men discharged, he said, had been "floating on the job" and were not even earning the wages demanded by the union scale. Arthur Rogers, business agent of the Chauffeurs' Union, told the strikers that they had violated their contract with the Brown company, and that he would see to it that their places were filled by other union chauffeurs. The day shift of chauffeurs employed by the company reported for duty today as usual.

A Red-Top cab was fired upon last night at 8:40 o'clock at McPherson avenue and Sarah street by persons in a touring car which drove past at high speed. Three shots were fired, but only one struck the taxi. There were no passengers in the car. A cab of the Yellow Taxi Co., the union chauffeurs of which have been on strike since Jan. 1, 1932, was fired upon from a touring car at Grand boulevard and McPherson avenue at 9:40 p. m. The cab was not hit but one of the bullets broke a window in a gasoline filling station at the corner.

This Beauty Now For You

—guaranteed!

Science discovers falling, lustreless hair due to a simple infection (Sebum) which is quickly overcome—Amazing results in a few days

Wonderful hair, silky, lustrous, and a world of it—this remarkable new method offers it to you under written guarantee!

If it fails, the treatment costs you nothing. Women by the thousands have recently made this test. Results are almost incredible.

That Infected Sebum

91% of hair troubles now are traced to infected Sebum.

Sebum is an oil that forms at the roots of the hair and frequently becomes infected. It cakes on the scalp. It plugs the follicles and forms a breeding place for bacteria—germs by the millions feed upon the hair and destroy it.

But note this scientific fact: Remove that infection—the Sebum—and soon your hair has the silken loveliness, the sheen and beauty for which every woman strives.

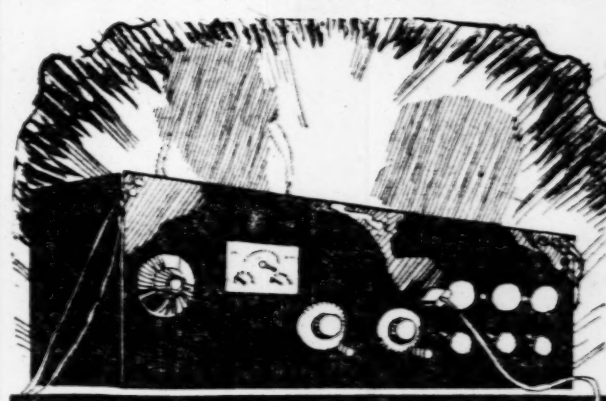

Our method accomplishes that result. It is sold with written guarantee.

Make the test. It is safe to do so, for you assume no risk. Go today to your drug or department store and obtain the Van Ess Liquid Scalp Massage. Written guarantee comes with each 3-bottle treatment. Results will be a revelation.

Note the rubber cap. You massage this treatment directly into the follicles of the hair.

Purifies blood, builds strength, re-vitalizes

These trying days bring weariness, a general slowing down due to sluggish, impure blood. Hood's Sarsaparilla quickly banishes that exhausted feeling, invigorates and purifies the blood. You can depend on Hood's. Nearly 50 years of successful use. It will do you good. At all druggists. The tonic for that tired feeling.

Don't Let That Cold Turn Into "Flu"

That cold may turn into "Flu," Grippe or even worse, Pneumonia, unless you take care of it at once. Rub good old Musterole on the congested parts and see how quickly it brings relief.

MUSTEROLE
WILL NOT BURN

As effective as the messy old mustard plaster, it does the work without the blister. Just rub it on with your fingertips. You will feel a warm tingle as it enters the pores, then a cooling sensation that brings welcome relief. 35c and 65c, in jars and tubes. Better than a mustard plaster.

STOMACH UPSET?

Get at the Real Cause—Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

That's what thousands of stomach sufferers are doing now. Instead of taking tonics, or trying to patch up a poor digestion, they are attacking the real cause of the ailment—clogged liver and disordered bowels. Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil. You will know them by their olive color. They do the work without gripping, cramping or pain. Take one or two at bedtime for quick relief. Eat what you like. 15c and 35c.

SUFFERED WITH ECZEMA 6 YEARS

In Blisters On Face, Arms and Neck. Cuticura Heals.

"I suffered with eczema for six years. It broke out in my face, then a regular rash and my face, arms and neck were affected. The itching and burning were very severe, and I scratched and irritated the affected parts so badly that I could not stand my clothes to touch them. I got very little sleep for months. My doctor advised me to try Cuticura Soap and Ointment, which I did. They helped me so I continued using them, and in three months I was healed." (Signed) Mrs. L. F. Wagner, Honey Creek, Iowa.

RULING IN FAVOR OF HERRIN DEFENDANT

Judge's Decision Said Virtually to Have Eliminated Grace From Case.

By the Associated Press.
MARION, Ill., March 7.—Attorneys for the defense in the second Herrin riot trial claimed a victory today in a ruling by Judge Hartwell regarding testimony directed against Bert Grace, one of the defendants charged with the murder of Antonio Mulkaich. It was said that the ruling practically eliminated Grace from the case.

The ruling followed a fight over the testimony of Fred Harrison, a University of Illinois student, through whom the prosecution sought to show that Grace and several other men were seen carrying guns about a mile from the spot and a short time after Mulkaich was slain.

Judge Hartwell permitted Harrison to testify, but said he would instruct the jury that Harrison's testimony should be considered only against those persons shown to have participated in the alleged conspiracy prior to the killing or in the actual slaying of Mulkaich.

The court held that the conduct of any individual before and after the crime could be considered only when participation in the crime was shown. There had been no previous testimony relating to Grace.

The defense contended that any alleged conspiracy ended at the time of the killing and that all testimony after the fact should be barred. This was not sustained by the court.

Says He Saw Three Bodies.
Young Harrison told of seeing 15 or 20 armed men shoot down a fugitive near his father's farm. He testified that he went toward the spot and met Bert Grace with a pistol in his hand.

Harrison declared he saw Grace get into an automobile and later went into a clump of woods and found the bodies of three men, one hanging from the limb of a small tree.

George Harrison, a banker and farmer and the father of Fred, corroborated the testimony given by his son.

Two More Survivors Point Out Three Defendants.

Two more survivors of the riots yesterday pointed out three of the defendants as having taken an active part in the disorders which resulted in the slaying of three union miners and 22 nonunion workers.

The two witnesses, Gus Lawrence of Louisville, Ky., a fireman, and Bernard Jones of Chicago, an armed guard, substantiated details of the story told on the witness stand Monday by William Caines, another survivor of the tragedy. All three agreed that the nonunion workers in the mine of the Southern Illinois Coal Co. had been attacked early in the afternoon of June 21 and that they had surrendered the next morning after being promised safe conduct.

"You knew there was apt to be trouble and you were willing to stay and take a chance on killing or being killed?" Jones was asked on cross-examination. The witness admitted that he knew he was engaged in strike-breaking work and had shot at the men firing into the mine.

"You were engaged in trying to kill the people of Williamson County?" he was asked and replied: "I was trying to kill the people who were trying to kill me."

Left-hander No Longer Frail but Has Grown Sturdy and Strong—Practically the Entire Squad Will Be in Camp Today, Henry Being Only Holdout.

By J. Roy Stockton,
Of the Post-Dispatch Sport Staff.

MOBILE, Ala., March 7.—Nine more Browns reported at Mobile yesterday, bringing Lee Fohl's squad to within four of being complete. The only absentees now are Shocker who is expected this evening, Sisler who will report late this week, Frank Henry holdout pitcher, and T. W. Rich, outfielder from Cleveland, Tenn., who apparently has been lost en route.

The men to report at camp yesterday were Frank Ellerbe, Homer Ezzell, Eddie Foster and Gene Robertson, third basemen; Marty McManus and H. F. Rice, second basemen; Gerber, shortstop, and Williams and Jacobson, outfielders.

Manager Fohl and Secretary Willis Johnson have tried to count noses several times, but there has been no accurate tabulation of the men in camp. There are approximately 35 athletes working out daily at the Mobile park.

Yesterday afternoon Manager Fohl ordered infield practice, with the following combination in the field: Ezzell, first base; Whaley, second base; Austin, shortstop, and John Schulte, third base. The purpose of the practice was to see Ezzell in action, and Manager Fohl and his assistants registered satisfaction.

Ezzell displayed unusual speed for the first day in camp, and the way he was whipping the ball across the diamond indicated that he had been playing ball at home in San Antonio for some time. He was certainly unshaken by his muscles with midseason abandon.

After the infield had displayed its wares, batting practice was ordered. The work of three recruits stood out prominently. One was H. F. Rice, second baseman, from the Paris (Tenn.) club of the Kiltzy League. Another was Ernie Vache, right-hand hitting outfielder from Charleston, and Herschel Bennett, left-hand batter, from Tulsa, was the third. Suspensions are afoot in Mobile that Vache and Bennett are going to make the strongest bid among recruits for a place in the Browns' outfield, and that Rice may be an infield find of the year.

Vache was pounding them over the

Rickard Prepared To Outbid Shelby For Dempsey Bout

"Lightweights Draw More Than $250,000 in My Arena," Promoter Tells Interviewer.

By Davis J. Walsh.

NEW YORK, March 7.—Shelby of Montana will have to stay higher, wiser and more handsome than Dempsey and Rickard to outbid them for the fight it expects to outbid.

"An offer to $250,000 is a joke in these days," the promoter declared. "Lightweights draw more than that for no-decision bouts in my arena at Jersey City. I will have more to say later about a Dempsey-Gibbons bout, and when I do I think I will hold the winning cards."

Nice Situation for Kearns. Meantime, Kearns is going back in his push-lined dignity and waiting developments. He is not infuriated by the turn of events which introduced Shelby as a possible factor in the bidding.

"Money," he remarked today, relating the words over his palate with justifiable relish. "Show me money. That's all I ask of Shelby. Money. I have been given to understand that Shelby is bringing the money behind the proposed bout to New York for a conference, and if they can give me a financial guarantee of their good faith, I will sign today. Otherwise, I will be looking out of the window, as usual."

FIRPO WORKS OUT WITH JACK JOHNSON AND JAMAICA KID

NEW YORK, March 7.—Lewis' right arm of boxing is going right ahead with his training for his bout with Bill Brennan, which is scheduled to be held in Madison Square Garden next Monday night.

After boxing four sublimated rounds with Jamaica Kid, Firpo took on Jack Johnson, former heavyweight champion, for a workout, which had all the aspects of a teacher and pupil at work. Johnson coached and instructed the big fellow from South America, and one could almost see Firpo improve as the rounds progressed.

After the workout, Firpo was in charge of the training of Jamaica Kid, who also helped to condition Dempsey for that affair. DeForest, who after yesterday's workout that Firpo weighed 225 pounds and would enter into the ring weighing about 235.

Football Players To Train in Ring

Princeton Gridiron Men to Wrestle and Box as Spring Preparation.

By Walter Camp.

NEW YORK, March 7.—Bill Roper, coach of the Princeton football team, is developing his material for next season's team by boxing workouts. He also told the writer that he intended to vary the ring bouts which are forming a part of the preliminary spring work of the candidates with wrestling matches.

This system certainly ought to work out good results in addition to furnishing a refreshing change from the dreary monotony of winter and spring training. Someone has said boxing teaches a man not to hit another. In other words it is the finest sort of discipline for control of the temper. Beyond that, it teaches a football man quickness of foot, coordination of mind and muscles and the poise and balance which are such great essentials in making a successful player especially in the line.

Weismuller Going Abroad. Unless the writer is very much mistaken, Johnny Weismuller will show his British friends a pair of web feet in the Liverpool swimming carnival which will be held June 8.

The great American swimmer will leave here May 22 and we shall have a chance to see more of his prowess before he sails. He will compete in the National A. T. championships at Pittsburgh, Friday, and his performance then will give a better line on whether he is as fast as ever although his new record Tuesday night showed what he can do.

Commission for Wrestling.

ALDERMAN UNHEMMELED'S A bill placing supervision events held here under supervision of the Boxing Commission is all right in itself.

Presumably such a commission would have the right to prevent the arrangement of matches like the Lewis-Tolofos, Lewis-Tiverio, Lewis-Manakoff affairs—near-wrestles, not even worthy exhibitions. However, it would only be fair to recognize the boxing-wrestling commission to the extent of placing on it some experienced person with a good knowledge of the wrestling game, of both sports.

say Harry Sharpe, John C. Meyers or George Baptiste. Matches which on their face are pure exhibitions should be so labeled by order of commission.

That's Better, Ban.

BAN JOHNSON signs he was misrepresented in reports stating that he objected to posting of official HITS and ERRORS on league bulletin boards because it was "an aid to gamblers."

Ban's real reason, he said, would have been that it would have a bad effect on the players. Johnson recommended the adoption of the scoreboard changes at first, but when it was pointed out that players involved in the official rulings against them would have to be the scorers from first base as they might an umpire, or permit the ruling to distract their attention from the game, he changed his mind. The argument went strong with the other managers who decided to abandon the thought.

That the spectacle of an late player jawing back and forth with the official hit-arbiters might add something to the gaiety of the grand stand, but would hardly split baseball, was the Ban's idea of the case.

Perhaps he was right. Some of the scoring calls for remarks that would rear asbestoses.

Come Home, Jess.

JESS WILLARD'S shape-showing tour will close tonight at Kansas City where he will occupy half of the limelight. The other half will be turned on Marlin Plestina, the champion champion-chaser of Chetendon. Marlin has pursued champions with loud voice and certified checks since 1919.

Jess is dutifully obeying his master's voice and will hurry back to New York to finish training. That training publicity in New York is better than exhibition tour frosts, is perhaps an explanation.

Paddock Will Not Compete on Eastern Track This Season

By the Associated Press.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., March 7.—Neither Charles W. Paddock, world's champion sprinter, nor any other member of the University of Southern California track and field team will run in any Eastern meet this year, according to Coach Dean H. Cromwell. The Trojans will confine their activities to Pacific Coast meets.

Both students and officials at the U. S. C. T. present the action of the Executive Committee of the intercollegiate A. A. A. A. in tabling the Trojans' membership application for one year "because of lack of information concerning scholastic requirements and that it was the belief that the requirements did not measure up to Eastern standards."

This is believed to be the reason for calling off plans to participate in other meets in the East. Paddock has received four telegrams from Des Moines asking him to run in the Drake University relay meet April 27 and 28.

EQUIPMENTS ARE FEATURE OF DAY ON STOCK MARKET

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, March 7.—The Evening Post in its copyrighted financial review today says: Yesterday's market was having proved abortive, reactions having been in evidence in today's markets. After a firm opening, an attempt was made to depress stocks on the basis of a vague talk of another increase in the Federal Reserve discount rate. The effect was, however, transitory, gradually giving strength to the market in some cases amounting to gains of 4 points. Pressure evidently was applied to the shorts. Toward the close, industries were generally higher and the rails, though quiet, were firm. Total sales approximately 1,200,000 shares. Bonds were little changed and call money, after opening at 5 per cent, was reduced to 4 1/2 per cent shortly after the start of the fourth hour.

Steel Industry Situation.—Further advances in the prices of pig iron and steel despite fresh gains in production and a measure of continued strong demand and well-filled order books. The market has reached such a point, in fact, that expansion in automobile production and in building construction is stated to be approaching a limit because of scarcity of materials. Nevertheless, pig iron production during the past month was greater than in any February on record and March 1 equaled 1920 tons a day, which approximately is the highest rate attained at any time in history. Meanwhile, the Iron Age index of the price of finished steel products has risen again to 2.67 cents a pound, last week's figure being 2.61 cent. This journal also states that the Lullie occupation is now having a broad effect on the European steel market. Germany is attempting to produce steel independently of the Ruhr and both Germany and France are buying coal in the country and Lorraine are now in operation and completely shut down. British steel prices have risen sharply.

War Department Plans to Supply Additional Equipment to the Mississippi River Barge Line by Canceling the E. F. Goltra Lease

(1) Four powerful tugs and some of the barges that will be available. The Goltra lease is being canceled for failure to use the equipment. All the 19 barges in the fleet are alike, each 300 feet long and carrying 3000 tons. (2) Other barges belonging to the Upper River fleet, anchored at another point.

Fifty-three years a locomotive fireman and engineer without a serious accident, and never a run in that time that he did not begin with a prayer. George Bemis of Indianapolis retired from the Big Four last week at the age of 70. This photograph shows him boarding his locomotive for the last run. He is a staunch churchman, and he attributes his escape from accidents to his custom of kneeling in his cab just before starting and praying that the Lord would help him to take his passengers safely to their journey's end.

Fashion News Notes

NEW YORK—Some of the wrap around frocks with the Egyptian embroidery so high in favor just now would rouse the envy of an Egyptian Princess herself could her mummified remains awaken today. The Egyptian patterns in vivid colors are done on backgrounds of laven green, tan, dark blue or black.

NEW YORK—An interesting coat is a soft wool fabric, seen on Fifth avenue today, is made with long, sweeping lines and is itself very long, reaching to the ankles. Its length is accentuated by a high collar. The wide sleeves have side cuffs of satin, prettily quilted.

NEW YORK—A gorgeous evening slipper seen at the theater Monday night was of red and black velvet. The slipper was chiefly red, with the black as a binding. It was so cut out and so slenderly held by one jeweled strap that it looked like it would fall off any minute, but, on the other hand, it was so well built that it didn't.

NEW YORK—The purple hat is here again. In a marvelous shade of deep violet, it is to be seen either in straw or heavy silk. Often the silk hats have a pleated brim or a brim with a floppy ruffle, which gives softness to the face.

PALM BEACH, Fla.—As the season wanes a new sweater dawn. Its background is a soft, mist gray. Up and down it has arrow-pointed de- signs in dark red or blue, running all over it. The only break in this pattern comes at the lower edge and cuffs, where there is a wide band of bright colors in a horizontal pat- tern.

MAXIMS OF A MODERN MAID

By Marguerite Mooers Marshall

THE original sensitive plants are any woman's man friends. If she utters even the most impersonal criticism of masculine stupidity or fatuousness, they turn large, hurt eyes on her and ask, in grieving accents, to which of THEM she is referring.

If there's one thing which makes the tired business girl realize anew the joys of self-supporting independence, it's the dependent, supported damsel who are simply gloating at her these days from the Palm Beach pictures.

The trouble is that when a man spends a lot of money on his wife she can never be quite sure whether he is proving his love or whether he is proving a conscience-stricken alibi for it.

Now that bobbed hair is no longer the fashion, we are told that employers have decided to tolerate it. The mind of a man does move, even as the well-known snail.

Before a girl offers sarcastic comment on the women of 45 who are trying to look a young 32, she might as well realize that when she gets to be 45 she probably will be engaged in the same hopeless struggle.

The more a childless woman sees of the whole- hearted admiration with which parents regard the an- noying obstreperous acts of their offspring the better she likes her dog.

There exists a limit to the assurance of even the most conceited wom- an. She can never be quite certain for more than five minutes at a time that her hat is on straight.

When they're trying to call on his aunt in East St. Louis and roam around for two hours because the young husband doesn't know the way and his wife can't persuade him to admit his ignorance and ask a cop, that's when the honeymoon ends.

Meat Balls in Tomato Gravy

ONE pound ground meat, one chopped onion, one cup soaked bread crumbs, one egg, season- ings, tomato sauce. Mix meat crumbs, onion, egg and seasoning into small balls. Drop into boiling tomato juice and simmer half an hour. When done, thicken gravy with flour. Leftover meat may be used in part or entirely.

The costumes worn by women walkers and runners in England have reached such a stage as to equal the one-piece bathing suit.

Eighty-five per cent of the money in circulation passes through the hands of women.

TCHI (Cabbage Soup)

TRY out two tablespoons suet or butter in a soup kettle. When "sizzling" add a large minced onion and about one pint finely chopped cabbage. Brown well and thicken with two tablespoons of flour. Add pepper, salt and a little minced parsley. Add six cups stock (this may be made from beef ex- tracts or bouillon cubes) and cook one hour. When ready to serve, add a little tarragon vinegar. Have some rounds of sausage, fried brown. Drop a few of these into each plate.

Quick Quaker Oats

Cooks to perfection in 3 to 5 minutes

Coffee 10 Minutes

Oats 3 to 5 minutes now

Now there's a Quick Quaker Oats—the quickest-cooking oats in the world. It cooks in 3 to 5 minutes, and cooks to perfection. Your grocer has both Quick and regular. So you can, if you wish, have the oat dish ready before the eggs or coffee.

Quickness, plus super-flavor

Quaker Oats won their world-wide fame through flavor. They dominate all the earth over, because people love that flavor. They are flaked from queen grains only—just the rich, plump, flavory oats. We get ten pounds of these luscious flakes from a bushel of choice oats.

Quick Quaker is flaked from the same queen grains. But the oats are cut before flaking. They are rolled very thin and partly cooked. So the flakes are smaller and thinner—that is all. And those small, thin flakes cook quickly.

Now, if you want that exquisite flavor, you must get Quaker Oats. If you want five-minute cooking you must get Quaker Oats. Get either style you like best. But, for one or both of those reasons, get Quaker. You like the utmost in this food of foods—the greatest food that grows.

Regular Quaker Oats

Come in package at left—the style you have always known.

Quick Quaker Oats

Come in package at right, with the "Quick" label. Your grocer has both. Be sure to get the style you want.

An old friend was going to see the traveler.

The Rich and the Poor. "What shall I take her?" she thought. "Hothouse flowers are no novelty to her. Oh, I know!"

And the old friend sent some wise little boys she knew out on a search- ing expedition and in the hollow of the emerald hills the wise boys found a clump of yellow acacia bursting into perfume and joyous bloom. And the old friend filled her arms with the clotted sunshine of the acacia and took them to the trav- eler.

"Oh, my dear," said the traveler. "How sweet of you."

And she laid the acacia down and would have let it wither.

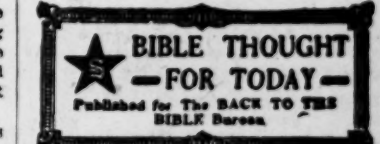

But the sister, who lives in Cali- fornia, where the acacia grows, rushed into the room.

"Oh!" she cried. "The first acacia! Wherever did you get them?"

And she bustled about and filled the vases and the baskets and the jars with honey sweet bloom till the hotel room looked like a corner of the Garden of Eden.

And she couldn't keep her eyes from the beauty of it and you could see that her heart sang in her breast and she thought of spring and sun- shine and all the things she loved best.

And her rich sister, who has trav- eled so much, is sorry for her be- cause she thinks the sister is poor. What do you think?

Are Your Floors a Pleasure or a Problem?

THOSE soft wood floors that you have so much trouble with—why don't you put linoleum on them?

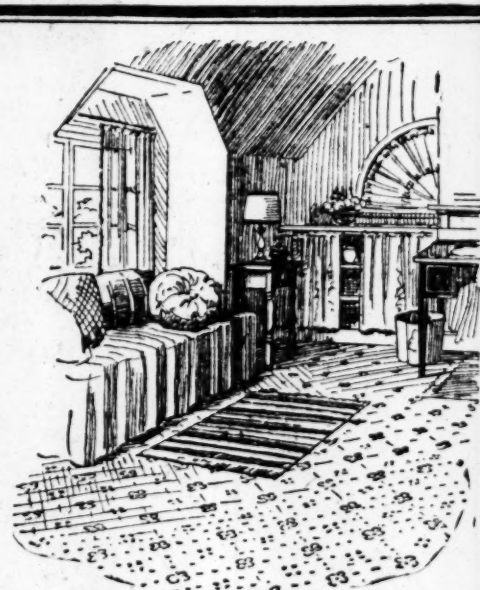

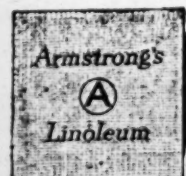

When you put down a floor of modern linoleum in the modern way, you at once do away with a number of worries that go with bare, soft wood floors.

Linoleum floors do not need to be painted. They do not need expensive refinishing. They do not warp, or splinter or crack. Linoleum floors are handsome, durable, and easy to clean. An occasional waxing and polishing keeps them in fine condition, and with a little of this care they will mellow and their appearance will actually im- prove with age.

The same fabric rugs you use now can be thrown over your linoleum floors—but with this advantage: The linoleum floors are warm, resilient, and quiet. In the new patterns they are a note of cheer and color in the room.

When properly laid, they are per- manent and waterproof. A vacuum cleaner or a broom quickly removes every bit of dirt from the smooth, non- slippery surface. Dust does not work into linoleum. Threads do not cling to it.

The soul of wisdom shed

THE FINAL SMASH.

THERE was company at the farmhouse that evening and Mrs. Purdy, who had her share and more of New Hampshire thrift, was moved through hospitality to offer the suggestion that possibly the guests might like a glass apiece of fresh apple cider. There was a unanimous indorsement of the idea. So Mr. Purdy got a china pitcher from the pantry and started for the cellar, where the cider was stored.

The cellar was dark and the steps leading to it were steep. Half way down he stumbled and dropped with a resounding thump upon the brick floor six feet below, where he lay, half-stunned.

Upstairs in the parlor they heard the sound of his fall. With alarm and wifely solicitude writ large upon her face Mrs. Purdy ran to the head of the cellar steps.

"Faw," she called down, "did you break the pitcher?"

"From the void below a determined voice answered her back:

"No, I didn't, but, by Judas Priest, I'm guin' to now!"

RECEIVER FOR FIRM IN WHICH PUBLIC PUT $22,000,000

Court Takes Charge of L. R. Steel Enterprises Buffalo After Resignation of President.

50,000 PERSONS PURCHASED STOCK

State Recently Began In- vestigation, and Selling Stock in 20 Enterprises Was Discontinued.

By the Associated Press.
BUFFALO, N. Y., March 8.— Receivers were appointed in Fed-
enterprises, in which the public invested about $22,000,000. L.
Steel, the promoter, severed his connection with the companies, of which there were nearly a score, on Feb.
27, and since then direction of Steel enterprises has been in the hands of a board of control.

The receivers were appointed a suit in equity brought to compel the assets of the various corporations. The petitioner is the National and Tinney Manufacturing Co., Manitowish, Wis. Judge John R. Kelley, named as receivers William Reilly, Buffalo, lumber merchant;
David M. Lewis, New York, lawyer; and Charles Bennett Smith of Buffalo, former Congressman.

50,000 Persons Took Stock.

The Parent Steel Co. was organized in 1919 by Leonard R. S. who for several years had been identified with chain store companies.
Later became known as L. R. S.
Incorporated, and as the business grew subsidiaries were formed to stock, to administer the real estate controlled by the various enterprises and for many other purposes.

Chief among the subsidiaries
the L. R. Steel Service Corp., which handled the sale of stock in all the Steel concerns, in which public was invited to invest. Five state offices were opened in larger cities of the United States and Canada and a large selling force was engaged to dispose of the stock. In Buffalo, it is estimated more than $20,000,000 in common and preferred stock.

Frequent conventions of the stock salesmen were held, at which Steel was lauded as "a wise chain-store management," and force was enlisted to greater efforts in the disposal of stock in Steel enterprises.

The first sign of distress came
Jan. 27, when it was announced that Leonard R. Steel had resigned the presidency of the L. R. S.
Incorporated, the L. R. Steel Service Corporation and the L. R.
Realty Development Co. and placed his stockholdings in these other subsidiaries in the hands of Executive Board.
